Flake Smith, assistant postmaster, wants to see how the old home state looks after 26 years absence. He's going back into Kansas and out, a useless expense as we have Fred Ross and Charley Chapman and Ross Grover and several hundred other Kansans who have been back more recently and can tell him. But Flake has those three weeks which Elynn Glynn wrote about and he wants to spend them in Kansas so he can gather first hand information and converse with a few of the boys who may be there when he left. I can visualize some disappointments. Ole swimmin' hole probably disappeared, pals of other days relocated or transferred to eternity, boyhood scenes changed by the march of progress, but indelible in Flake's mind the incidents same as if it were yesterday. Doggone it, time resistlessly changes the scenes of our affection, and what are we going to do about it?

Yesterday was Grandma's Day. It was Grandpa's Day too, but he was playing golf. Grandma may have been at the Pomona fair, or out to some woman's club, autoing or asking daughter for a light. Grandma's have changed. They are streamlined and sophisticated and "bridged" and not only up to the minute but several minutes ahead. I should have commented on Grandma's Day in Saturday's column so as to increase her chances of being remembered, but if you forgot it like I did, you better "make up" like I'm trying to.

A manager of one of the Orange county packing houses, giving a number of reasons which contribute to the unsatisfactory condition of the orange market, lists as the most detrimental "a prorate which enables the carload buyer to know at all times that his regular, orderly, prearranged shipments are governed for him, making it possible for him to set his own price, and after purchasing the same at lower than picking, packing, marketing, refrigeration, freight, and growers' production costs, he can in turn place his own price on this fruit, when he recalls it and... in a great many instances makes more profit on one carload of fruit on his resale than the man who produces the fruit makes on five carloads." All of which should be interesting to that "fact finding" organization, now in process of formation.

Bridge foursome bidding interrupted by a flock of mosquitoes, but they weren't able to break up the game until near the midnight hour. The mosquitoes went to sleep.

The great Pomona fair closed Sunday after accommodating the largest attendance in its history, and proving to a large number that betting on a horse race at Pomona is no different than betting on a horse race at Santa Anita or Del Mar. I can bring you the evidence.

I am in favor of Fire Prevention Week being multiplied fifty-two times. If you can prevent fires one week why not take on the other fifty-one. It's a good proposition. Insurance companies and the firemen and insured property owners all in favor of it, far as I have found out. However, if it isn't possible to have fire prevention for fifty-two weeks let's make the most out of what we

Fee Suit Delayed To Dec. 5

Postponement of the board of supervisors' $100,000 "fee suit" against Sheriff Logan Jackson to Dec. 5 was allowed today by Superior Judge Louis C. Drapeau of Ventura, following a two-hour conference with attorneys.

Continuance of the case was granted over protests of Frank C. Drumm and J. B. Tucker, attorneys for the sheriff in the case, pending an audit of Jackson's records and possible amendment of the county's complaint to include actual receipts and profits.

RECORDS HANDED OVER

A number of the sheriff's records, showing his income from fees and prisoner feeding for the last few years, were turned over to Edgar B. Hervey and Clarence Harden, the county's attorneys, by the sheriff's counsel. Further figures may be unearthed if Hervey and Harden, according to this morning's agreement, send an auditor to the sheriff's office to delve into other records.

Both a deposition proceeding, which started Friday, and actual trial of the case were postponed until December—after the Nov. 8 general election in which Jackson is a candidate for re-election. His attorneys have urged a trial before that date, contending the "fee suit" was brought for political purposes to damage Jackson.

STATE-WIDE ISSUE

Judge Drapeau's consent to the continuance asked by Hervey and Harden was made, he explained, because of importance of the case, involving the question of whether or not the sheriff is entitled to retain for himself profits from feeding prisoners in the county jail. Twenty-five other California counties operate on the same system as this county, turning this case into a state-wide issue.

Secondary in importance is validity of the county's salary ordinance, passage of which last year precipitated the squabble which resulted in the present suit. Under the ordinance, Jackson would be placed on a flat salary and his statutory fees taken by the county.

OCT. 31 DEADLINE

Today's stipulation included an agreement that Hervey and Harden, if they desire to amend their complaint in the suit, must do so by Oct. 31.

Whether or not evidence about Jackson's fees and profits is material will be ruled on at the trial.

3-Month Deficit Is 700 Millions

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The treasury announced today it ran up a deficit of $700,983,352 in the first quarter of the fiscal year which began July 1.

Expenditures under the emergency spending program widened by the last congress totaled $2,210,165,385 and receipts $1,509,182,032.55. In the similar three months last year, when expenditures amounted to $1,937,764,437, the deficit was only $287,073,673.

Manslaughter Laid To Union Leader

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash. (AP)—A manslaughter arrest warrant was issued today for William Blais, Los Angeles Theatrical and Stagehands' union representative, who was released on his own recognizance last Tuesday after his automobile was reported to have hit Nelson Huling, 86, Huling died Friday.

Sheriff Fred Polk said highway tire marks indicated Blais' car skidded 204 feet before hitting the elderly pedestrian, then caromed into a ditch.

Hitler Welcomed by 500,000 at Berlin

A crowd of an estimated 500,000 gave Adolf Hitler a triumphant, thankful welcome on his return from the four-power peace conference in Munich. In this radiophoto transmitted from Berlin to New York, Hitler is shown grasping the hand of one of the native-garbed Sudeten women who met him. Thousands of Sudeten Germans from Czechoslovakia crowded the streets to hail Hitler as their "rescuer."

German Troops Goose-Step Toward Czech Frontier

This radiophoto from Berlin shows German troops as they marched southward through Rudolstadt, German Silesia, toward the Czechoslovakian frontier as the first step toward taking over parts of the Sudetenland which they will be permitted to occupy under terms of the Munich conference.

HITLER EATS, HALTS TRAFFIC

EGER, Sudeten Germany. (AP)—

It took Adolf Hitler only a half hour to eat his lunch today but it took the German army an hour and a half to untangle traffic because of it.

He ate with Konrad Henlein and other dignitaries in a tent pitched by the roadside on the edge of Eger. During the half hour no one was permitted to pass the troop trucks, armored cars, and private vehicles accompanying the German army of occupation clogged the highway behind.

Attendance Record At Pomona Fair

POMONA, (AP)—Figures announced today showed that attendance at this year's Los Angeles county fair totaled 640,650, a new high.

Sunday's closing attendance of 61,213 was 12,000 more than that of the final day last year. The 1937 total was 635,572.

President Clyde E. Houston announced a program of improvements for next year's fair, beginning at once. Work starts tomorrow on the Domestic Arts building and a new horse show arena.

Comedian Denies Guilt in Court

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Film Comedian Stan Laurel pleaded innocent in Van Nuys division municipal court today to charges of drunkenness and misdemeanor drunk driving and asked a jury trial which was set for Oct. 24.

Laurel was arrested last Wednesday night near his Van Nuys home by officers who said his automobile nearly struck theirs.

Guardianship Won For Movie Career

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Guardianship of 13-year-old Beverly Jane Stillwagon, singer, was awarded to her aunt, Mrs. Anna Catherine Stillwagon, today to clear the way for a film contract for the girl.

Her father and Mrs. Stillwagon's brother-in-law, George Washington Stillwagon, opposed the guardianship and charged Mrs. Stillwagon wanted to exploit the girl's talents. The charge was made in an affidavit received here last week from Detroit, Mich. He was not represented in court today, however.

Mrs. Stillwagon testified she took Beverly Jane nine years ago from an orphan asylum, where her father had placed her.

SAN DIEGO, (AP)—Cedric Durst, veteran outfielder, today was appointed manager of the San Diego club of the Pacific Coast Baseball league, succeeding Frank Shellenback, released unconditionally by H. W. (Bill) Lane, president and owner.

Hitler Follows His Army in Sudetenland and Officially Takes Guardianship of Area

WITH THE GERMAN ARMY OF OCCUPATION IN SUDETENLAND. (AP)—Adolf Hitler personally assumed power over this former Czechoslovak territory in a triumphal military procession today and declared that "never will this land be torn from the Reich."

Following his armies through the heart of Sudetenland he made two stops to accept guardianship of all Sudeten Germans and invite them to join "our march into a great German future."

At Wildenau, on the frontier, Sudeten Nazi Leader Konrad Henlein symbolically handed the entire Sudeten territory to him. At Eger he was welcomed by cheering inhabitants and formally took the Sudeten capital into his expanding Germany.

Through the 17-mile ride from Wildenau to Eger Hitler was acclaimed as a liberator. The Fuehrer rode the entire distance standing in an open automobile, his face solemn and his arm ever raised in salute.

The cortege moved slowly through lines of cheering people. Soldiers were stationed at intervals along the route.

Two armored cars preceded Hitler and Henlein, who rode with him. Behind their car came General Walter von Reichenau, army corps commanding officer; Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister; and Heinrich Himmler, head of all German police organizations.

GREEN BLASTS LEWIS AT AFL

HOUSTON, Texas. (AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, keyed the opening session of the federation's 58th annual convention today, with a blistering attack on C. I. O. chairman John L. Lewis.

Flushed and perspiring, Green pounded the speaker's stand with his fists, and declared Lewis was now leading an industrial union movement he condemned in 1921 as one of the objectives of the Communist International.

Green waved before the convention audience a statement he said Lewis gave a senate committee in 1924 charging the Communists were trying to gain control of the A. F. of L. to obtain their labor objective—"one big union."

"Lewis is now engaged," he said, "in leading a movement which has that very thing for its objective."

MOB STONES BUND LEADER

UNION CITY, N. J. (AP)—Militant rock hurling anti-Nazis today had thwarted for the second time in two weeks an attempt by the German-American Volksbund to hold a rally in North Jersey.

An infuriated crowd of 2000 forced police to request Fritz Kuhn, national Volksbund leader, to call off last night's celebration by his followers of the German acquisition of Sudetenland and of a traditional Bavarian festival.

The boisterous demonstrators, some of whom were veterans' overseas caps, stoned Kuhn as Police Commissioner Harry E. Little escorted him from headquarters of the Hudson county bund to a waiting automobile.

They previously had made two attempts to storm the hall, guarded by nearly 100 policemen. They burned Hitler in effigy and at sight of Kuhn shouted "kill him."

German Plane With 13 Aboard Missing

BERNE, Switzerland. (AP)—

Swiss, German and Italian planes hunted without success today for a German airliner missing with ten passengers and a crew of three.

The German plane was last reported last night passing over a mountain highway near Davos on a flight from Frankfurt on the Main, Germany, to Milan, Italy.

Four Held in Kidnap Case

BAKERSFIELD, (AP)—Police and sheriff's deputies raided a small cottage on the eastern outskirts of Bakersfield today and arrested four men wanted as suspects in the Mrs. W. R. Meeks kidnapping case at Marysville, policeman Ed Courts said.

Courts said the four had a suitcase containing several Marysville newspapers carrying stories of the Meeks kidnapping and also clothing similar to that which the abductors were reported to have worn. Mrs. Meeks was released after being held for two days.

Those arrested named as Pete Nichols, Sherman and Raymond Beaver and Lee Burgess.

The raiders surprised the four in bed at the cottage. They were unarmed and offered no resistance.

$40,000 GEM THEFT AT SEA

SAN PEDRO, (AP)—Jewelry valued at between $40,000 and $50,000 was stolen from Mrs. Lawrence Tibbett, wife of the noted baritone, as the liner Monterey approached Los Angeles harbor, she reported today.

Mrs. Tibbett, accompanied by her husband, made the report to ship's officials shortly after 7 a. m., as the Monterey was about to dock.

Federal bureau of investigation agents, hurriedly called to the harbor, boarded the Monterey and searched staterooms and baggage before any passengers were permitted to disembark, causing a three-hour delay in landing.

Critics Severe

LONDON. (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain today acclaimed the contribution of President Roosevelt to last week's negotiations which averted a European war.

"The voice of the most powerful nation in the world" spoke across the sea to sway Europe's statesmen to ways of peace, declared Chamberlain in his defense in a tense house of commons of the Munich four-power accord for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia.

PRAYERS ANSWERED

The prime ministers angrily tossed back cries of "shame" at his critics and announced an immediate $50,000,000 loan for dismembered Czechoslovakia.

"The prayers of millions were answered" by the Munich pact, Chamberlain declared.

The prime minister replied to a bitter denunciation of his bargain with the dictators by Alfred Duff Cooper, who quit Saturday as first lord of the admiralty and who broke into bitter sobbing when he declared that the Munich terms "stuck in my throat."

TRIBUTE TO F. D. R.

Chamberlain paid tributes to President Roosevelt and to his fellow signatories of the Munich agreement, Reichsfuehrer Hitler and Premiers Mussolini and Daladier.

"The messages of President Roosevelt, so fairly and yet so persuasively made, showed how the voice of the most powerful nation in the world could make itself heard across 3000 miles of ocean and sway the minds of men in Europe," said the prime minister.

The 10,000,000 pound ($50,000,000) loan for Czechoslovakia announced by Chamberlain is a third of the amount asked by Prague, he disclosed. The granting of an additional 20,000,000 pounds ($100,000,000) in credits will be considered later, he said.

CREDIT TO IL DUCE

The prime minister went at length into an effort to show that Hitler had made concessions at Munich from his previous demands. He gave Mussolini credit for getting the mobilization of the German army postponed pending the Munich negotiations.

He revealed that it was Mus-

Dorothy Bundy In Final Round

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Dorothy Bundy of Santa Monica, Calif., gained the final round of women's singles in the Pacific Southwest tennis championships today, defeating Mme. Simone Mathieu of France, 6-1, 7-9, 8-6.

Chubby Dorothy's youthful stamina and wicked forehand shots that found the far corners of the court proved the deciding factor. She will play the winner of the Margot Lumb-Sarah Paley Fabyan match.

Horse Beats Man in Gate Swim

The first horse to swim San Francisco's Golden Gate, Blackie, a 12-year-old gelding, made the crossing more than one minute faster than Buster Olds (extreme left), champion distance swimmer, who plunged into the water along with the horse. Blackie's owner, Richard P. Roberts, was right there at the finish as he clung to the animal's tail throughout the journey. In the background is the San Francisco skyline and the Bay bridge.

Fleet Division by Creation of Atlantic Squadron Meets Criticism

'AMATEURS' IN NAVY CONTROL
SHARPLY HIT

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Some naval officers have been shaking heads dubiously over the navy's creation of an Atlantic squadron of 14 of its newest cruisers and destroyers.

The cardinal sin of naval strategy,
they were taught at Annapolis, is to divide sea forces, even in peace.

Their unspoken doubt of the high command's decision found a voice today in the Army and Naval Journal, service weekly, which suggested that "it must be that amateur strategists are fiddling with the United States fleet."

On no other assumption can we accept the action of the navy department in creating an Atlantic squadron of cruisers and destroyers and reinforcing them with cruisers serving with the command which holds in its steel fist the protection of the shores of the country and our dependencies," it added. The Journal is not an official publication.

The Atlantic squadron began to take form last week when Rear Admiral Forde A. Todd took his flagship, the Philadelphia, to Norfolk. Some of his ships are not yet ready for shakedown cruises.

In the midst of last week's European crisis, three more cruisers were ordered transferred from the fleet in the Pacific to the Atlantic.
Though the navy has never said whether the new squadron is to be permanent, there have been hints it will be shifted to the Pacific next year when the fleet completes its projected six-month cruise to the Atlantic for war games and a visit to the New York World's fair.

"The organization table of the fleet called for 12 light cruisers to serve as shields against torpedo attacks upon the battleships, and be employed by it in such other capacities as their type and strength permitted," the Journal noted.

"But in order to form the Atlantic squadron, it was necessary to denude the battle force of these important auxiliaries."

As a result of the withdrawal of three additional cruisers from the Pacific, "there remain but two cruisers to constitute 'cruisers, battle force' which means that the battleships will be without the supplement that judgment and experience consider essential," the publication said.

$900 Worth of Smile

Mrs. Lyle Pease, of 1424 South Ross street, is smiling happily in the picture above. And no wonder, for she is the lucky woman who won $900 in the Fortunes Wheel event staged last Thursday at the Broadway and West Coast theaters. The check is being presented her by W. B. Williams, right, cashier of the First National bank. At the left is Manager George King of the Broadway and West Coast, where Fortunes Wheel is a special attraction each Thursday night.

LOWER END OF
BACK IN USE

Reconstruction of the lower section of the joint outfall sewer line—wrecked by floods seven months ago—was completed yesterday at 5 p. m., Mayor Fred Rowland of Santa Ana announced today.

Sewage water, which has been flowing into the ocean at the mouth of the Santa Ana river since March, today is again being dumped 300 feet out to sea. The line has been completely reconstructed or repaired from the mouth of the river to Victoria street, Costa Mesa, where the sewage water is being pumped from the river into the outfall line.

It was announced that the line is expected to be repaired as far as the Adams street, three miles from the ocean, by the middle of next month.

Mayor Rowland said that 2217 feet of the lower section of the line was completely reconstructed, while 3810 feet of reinforced concrete jacket was placed over parts of the old line, completely incasing it.

He said 897 feet of the completed section consists of 42-inch cast iron pipe resting on creosote pile foundation.

Work on sections of the line above Victoria street is already under way, with about one mile of "invert"—or base—of new sewer line already laid. The arch top will be laid next.

I Just Found Out About Orange County

By BOB SWANSON

Hot Stuff

Orange county claims the biggest "cold heat" industry in the United States.

You can drive through western Orange county, and see scarlet roof-tops covered with drying chili peppers—this is the hot stuff which is produced in greater quantities in Orange county than in almost all other sections of the United States combined.

There are roughly 2500 acres of chili peppers growing in this county. The harvest season is just swinging under way, and will last for about two months. The rest of the year the rancher spends leveling and cultivating the soil, irrigating, fertilizing and weeding. During the harvest season, it's a night and day job on some ranches.

The soil and cool climate of Orange county makes this a favorable area for chili peppers to grow.

In Orange county there are two principal varieties grown, the California and the Mexican, both of which are called "chili." The California, or Anaheim, variety is characterized by fruit which is about five to eight inches long and which tapers from about one inch in diameter at the stem and to a point at the opposite end. The California pods usually are more popular on the market than the Mexican, bring a cent or more premium.

Since most growers find it more difficult to get a good yield of the California as compared to the Mexican, there are more of the latter variety planted.

Both varieties are sizzling hot to taste. Their deep, cherry red color when dried is indicative of the latent heat they contain. Used as a flavoring in many American as well as Mexican dishes, cooks have found that "a little goes a long way."

The drying or dehydration of the pepper crop is a good-sized undertaking. At the S. Nagamatsu ranch on West First street, for example, there is a large dehydrator which dries the peppers artificially.

The plant has a capacity to dry about five tons a day. It takes 24 hours for a tray of peppers to dry completely.

First step in the drying process is dumping the peppers into mechanical washers for cleaning. The pods are rinsed in an acid solution, then put through a vat of fresh water.

Second step: peppers are placed on wire mesh drying trays, which are loaded on small skeleton cars and rolled to the dehydrator. The cars go progressively through the drying tunnel into which hot air is blown at a temperature of about 180 degrees F.

In about 24 hours, the car of peppers has gone the length of the tunnel and is ready to be moved to the sorting or grading shed. Gas heat is used, and a huge blower sucks the warm air into the tunnel.

Part of the hot air current goes toward the entrance end, and is allowed to escape as it comes to a rather high amount of moisture when it reaches the end of the tunnel. The current of air which is directed from the middle of the tunnel to the discharge end is recirculated.

After emerging from the dehydrator, the car of peppers is rolled to the grading chute where the peppers are sorted into No. 1's and No. 2's. They are carried to the storeroom on a conveyor belt.

Taken to the upper floor of the storeroom, the peppers are moistened, and in three days are dropped to the bottom floor for packing in burlap bags. A workman stands in the sack and tramps on the peppers as the sack is being filled. This enables putting 200 pounds of peppers in a sack. (Moistening softens the pepper so it won't crack open in packing.)

Peppers are packed about a week after emerging from the dehydrator.

Greatest limiting factor in the production of the pepper crop, ranchers say, is the loss caused by the pepper weevil, a destructive insect closely related to the cotton boll weevil. The small, gray-black insect first made its appearance in Orange county about 1922. It can fly freely and is carried long distances by wind.

Still another phase of the pepper industry in Orange county can be seen at the W. H. Booth company in Santa Ana which manufactures and packs chili products. Some fifty different items are contained in the price lists, including spice mixes and canned food products containing chili.

A variety of spices is required to supplement the locally grown chili, including Hontaka or Japanese chili, garlic, Mexican sage or oregano, paprika from Spain. Machinery takes stems off the pod and removes the seeds. Grinding is done by hammer mills.

Corn meal and meat mixtures are pre-cooled in huge copper kettles and then pumped into the hoppers of the machine which puts the tamales together, wraps them in parchment paper and crimps

L. B., Inglewood Men Tied for First Place in Newport Swim

ONE WOMAN FINISHES RACE IN OPEN OCEAN

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Crossing the finish line in 57 minutes, Paul Herron of Long Beach and James Gilhula of Inglewood tied for first place in the two-mile swim, finishing the annual "Ocean Frolic" conducted here yesterday.

Third place was taken by J. R. Eubank of Inglewood, whose time was 59 minutes, 50 seconds. Everett Cavell of Pasadena was fourth in 1 hour, 10 seconds, and John W. Allison of Long Beach fifth in 1 hour, 6 minutes, 15 seconds.

The race was completed by one woman, Miriam Brooks, who covered the course in 1 hour, 26 minutes and 20 seconds.

Two old-time swimmers finished. John Woodhead of Los Angeles, 56, covered the distance in 1 hour, 45 minutes, and Charles Simpson of Culver City finished in 1 hour, 58 minutes.

In the paddleboard race for life-guarders, John Kerwin, Jr. of Hermosa captured first place in 29 seconds flat in a field of 15 entries. Others who finished were Kevin of Hermosa, 29 minutes and 55 seconds; Floyd Hagan of Venice, 31 minutes and 35 seconds; and Donald Meredith of Venice, fourth, and Devore Christensen of Los Angeles, fifth.

Lester Clever of Fullerton, using a racing craft, won the kayak race in 22 minutes, 25 seconds from Leonard Little and Bob Scott. In the "Eskimo kayak" division, John Blach of Balboa won in 23 seconds flat, followed by Wayne Howard, Bob Sattler and Wilbur Scott.

Officials for the ocean frolic were Frank Crowe, Edgar Spicer, Earl Stanley, Dick Hourigan, Everett Nelson and Thomas Boichey. Mayor Williamson presented the trophies.

OSCAR STILL ON THE MOVE

Even "Oscar," the Knights of Columbus pig, is not allowed to have a quiet, serene Sabbath. Sunday night around 10 p. m., just when he was nicely tucked in his bed of clean sawdust, after his Saturday night bath, at the expense of Chuck Webb, he had orders to move.

He located on the front lawn of the P. C. Dietler home, paint merchant of Fifth and Broadway, where guests were spending the evening—naught did Oscar care.

Oscar is traveling as fast lately it is hard for us to keep up with him and with Grand Knight Mandy and District Deputy Wolford out of town it is hard to follow him, but we will do our best. . . . Hope, I hope, I hope, Oscar will be the same color when he moves again.

DRUNK DRIVING LAID TO 3

Three men were booked in the county jail over the week-end on drunk driving charges, following arrest by Orange police and California highway patrolmen. They gave their names as:

Burton James Hantsbarger, 53, Santa Ana cemetery caretaker, of 902 West Fifth street, arrested yesterday afternoon by Orange police.

Eldred F. Wooten, 29, Long Beach laborer, arrested last night by highway patrolmen.

Harry E. Warren, 41, Orange electrician, arrested last night by Orange police.

Taken to the upper floor of the storeroom, the peppers are moistened, and in three days are dropped to the bottom floor for packing in burlap bags. A workman stands in the sack and tramps on the peppers as the sack is being filled. This enables putting 200 pounds of peppers in a sack. (Moistening softens the pepper so it won't crack open in packing.)

Peppers are packed about a week after emerging from the dehydrator.

At 87 Years, Orange Woman To Cast Her First Vote

ORANGE.—An 87-year-old Orange woman, Mrs. Nancy Jane McGowan, will have the thrill of voting for the first time when she visits the election booth Nov. 8.

"I just never gave the matter much thought," Mrs. McGowan remarked, in explaining why she had never taken advantage of the ballot.

Friends and relatives, in talking about the coming election, discovered she had never voted.

Mrs. McGowan is the widow of a Civil War veteran, and the mother of nine children, six of whom are living.

MAN, HIS LEG BROKEN, IS IN PIT ALL NIGHT

ORANGE.—Orange police promised an investigation today into the mystery story of 61-year-old F. E. Travin of 275 North Orange street, who spent a night of horror in a 30-foot pit on Santiago creek.

Suffering a broken leg in the fall, Travin said he lay in the pit from about 8 p. m. Saturday to 5:30 a. m. yesterday morning, when he managed to claw his way up the embankment to freedom.

He was found dragging himself along South Glassell street, screaming for help.

Travin related a mysterious story of how a man heard his shouts for help, came to his assistance, then suddenly turned away and disappeared. Travin quoted the man as saying "he had to get back."

Travin was taken to Orange county hospital for treatment. He was reported improving today.

Police said the pit was excavated for the sinking of a pier for the new South Glassell street bridge now being constructed.

GIRL SUFFERS 2 BROKEN LEGS

The mystery of a 13-year-old girl in the hospital with two broken legs was cleared today by sheriff's deputies, who finally learned a few of the circumstances surrounding the injury.

Newport police reported the girl was in the county hospital, seriously injured but unable to remember what had happened. She had been transferred there from Fullerton.

Deputies learned her name is Ethel Wilson. She told officers she had been out riding last Thursday with a 15-year-old youth who was driving his father's car. Suddenly, she said, the steering apparatus suddenly went bad, and the car began to swerve from side to side. She said she remembered nothing more.

RECORD YIELD OF ORANGES

PLACENTIA.—A record Valencia orange crop has been predicted here in an announcement by packinghouse officials that the harvest, instead of being halted early this month, will continue into December.

This year's heavy yield will keep the packing plants at work until nearly Christmas unless prorates are increased, packing officials estimated.

An early estimate of 2500 cars of fruit to be shipped already has been surpassed, and an all-time record of 3000 cars is in prospect.

STEEL STEPS UP
NEW YORK. (AP)—Operations in the steel industry for the current week will advance 1.2 points to 47.9 per cent of capacity, compared with 46.7 per cent last week, the American Iron & Steel institute estimated today.

73 INNINGS DISPLAYED AT LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH.—Seventy-three paintings—oils, water colors, and pastels—made up the October-November exhibit of the Laguna Beach Art association which opened here yesterday at the galleries on Cliff Drive.

The exhibit, first to be staged by the new gallery management since its election in August, is predominantly conservative in tone, composition, and selection of subjects. There is, however, a sprinkling of modern art, contributed in part by new exhibitors.

A feature of the new show, heralded as one of the best in years and receiving much favorable comment, is the return to the gallery walls of works from the brushes of widely-known Southern California artists. Among these are Frank Tenney Johnson, James Swinnerton, Kathryn Leighton, Aaron Kilpatrick, Jack Wilkinson Smith, Edgar Payne, Clyde Forsythe, Hanson Putoff and others.

Other well known names on the catalogue of modern art, William Griffith, Joane Cromwell, Galen Doss, George K. Brandriff, Karl Yens, Frank Cuprien, William A. Patti, Virginia Woolley, Carl Zimmerman and Roy Ropp.

The jury of selection included Chairman, William Wendt, William T. McDermitt, Arthur Beaumont, Joane Cromwell and Frederick J. Schwankovsky.

RED CROSS TO PRESENT GIRL WITH HONORS

NEWPORT BEACH.—Miss Virginia Dee Williamson, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Harry Williamson, will be presented with a certificate of merit from the National Red Cross tomorrow, in recognition of her heroism in saving the life of a small boy who was drowning in the bay here several weeks ago.

The Newport Harbor Service club and the Costa Mesa-Newport Harbor Lions will honor Miss Williamson at a luncheon. Presentation of the certificate of merit will be made by Miss Margaret Glenn, chairman of water safety and saving in the Santa Ana chapter of the Red Cross.

Miss Williamson earned the award several weeks ago when she dived from a boat landing to rescue the small son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jones of Balboa, after the lad had been knocked into the water accidentally. He would have drowned if it had been for the prompt action of Miss Williamson.

FULLERTON BOY IN CRASH

FULLERTON.—Two Los Angeles men were killed near Ontario Friday when an automobile driven by John Holme, 28, of Fullerton plunged over a 12-foot embankment and struck a tree, Ontario police reported.

Those reported killed in the crash were Robert Mulligan, 24, and Louis H. Chambers, 28, Holme and a third passenger, Robert Preston, 22, Los Angeles, were reported injured.

Marian Martin Pattern

PATTERN 9866

A NEW "SLIMLINER" YOU NEED

"I want to make a young-looking dress to wear at home and uptown too, and I wear size 40." Here's the perfect solution to such a problem—a softly tailored Marian Martin style that's irresistible. Just picture our Pattern 9866 in an autumn tie silk, or one of the Fall percales, with ric-rac and buttons the brisk accents. You'll want long sleeves instead of short ones for when there's a sudden nip in the weather. A diagrammed Chart shows how easy it is to sew the patterned skirt with its two action pleats, and the equally slender bodice with a wide yoke.

Pattern 9866 may be ordered only in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 4 yards 39 inch fabric and 2 1/4 yards ric-rac.

Sent 15 cents in coins for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address and style number.

Write for your copy of the new Marian Martin Book of Patterns! See the latest fall fashions, fabrics, accessories! All the new clothes you need for the season are pictured. Lovely frocks for daytime and parties! Chic for college and business girls! Stylish things for children! Snow-time sportswear! Styles for the "would-be-slender" woman! Smart lingerie—and dresses for around the house. Helpful gift ideas, too! Easy patterns that invite "beginners!" Send your order today.

Book 15 cents, pattern 15 cents. Who book and pattern are ordered together, 25 cents.

Send your order to The Journal, Pattern Department, 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana, Calif.

The Core...No More

BALBOA.—Ships of the United States fleet will conduct day and night target practice firings off the coast this week, it was announced by Capt. R. M. Brainard.

FULLERTON.—Construction of a new business building at the northeast corner of Spadra road and Amerigo avenue is planned soon, according to Roy Schumacher, owner of the property.

OLIVE.—With the roof now being laid on the civic center building, construction of the $56,000 WPA project is expected to be completed in December. Building operations are under the supervision of Al Wunderlich.

SAN CLEMENTE.—Discussion regarding the erection of a monument to Bob Squires, Orange county deputy sheriff who was killed by Ira Jones, outlaw, on Dec. 16, 1912, is slated by the Orange County Peace Officers association in the Jewett hotel here tomorrow night. Squires was killed during the historic battle of Tomato Springs.

NEWPORT BEACH.—With members of the Fullerton club as guests, the Newport Harbor 20-30 club will meet here tonight to hear Lieut. John Duell, adventurer and explorer, tell of his trip along the Amazon river.

ANAHEIM.—A drive for $4000, estimated requirement of the local "Y" organizations for the coming fiscal year, was begun here today by a crew of 100 men and women with Arthur G. Porter as general chairman.

COSTA MESA.—"Death Takes the Steering Wheel," play stressing the need for traffic safety, was presented in the Community church last night, with P. A. North directing.

ORANGE.—Roy M. Buckles, mail superintendent of the Great Western Corderage Inc., has left on a three weeks' trip during which he will visit his mother, Mrs. Anna Buckles, and other relatives in Xenia, Ohio.

EL MODENA.—Miss Bary Burchell was elected president of the junior high school Christian Endeavor group at a recent meeting in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. J. S. Sorenson.

FULLERTON.—Toastmasters will hold a dinner meeting in Kibel's cafe at 6:30 p. m. today.

TWO PROJECTS ARE DELAYED

ORANGE.—Suspension of the Tustin street storm drain and Santiago creek flood protection projects for at least three months has been ordered by the city council, pending completion of repairs on the joint outfall sewer system.

The two WPA projects involving $222,000 of which Orange's share would be approximately $55,000, will not be abandoned, but merely postponed, city councilmen said.

With the cost of repair on the joint outfall sewer line now a major issue in expenditures, city officials deemed it advisable to hold off work on the two WPA projects.

'DEATH DRIVES' PRESENTED BY COSTA MESANS

COSTA MESA.—"Death Takes the Steering Wheel," the re-enactment of a famous Los Angeles manslaughter case in which two men were the victims of a drunken driver, was presented Sunday night at Costa Mesa Community church under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon league.

Players, all of whom were prominent local people, included the judge, re-enacted by Judge D. J. Dodge; district attorney, Rev. Alfred C. Abbe; defense attorney, P. Albert North; court clerk, Leroy P. Anderson; defendant, H. B. McMurtry; coroner, Harold J. Grauel; victim's sweetheart, Harriet E. Abrams; star witness, Mrs. Nellie McAdams; court bailiff, Henry Abrams. Those composing the jury were Raymond K. Eastman, Mrs. Vladimir Lenski, Dr. C. G. Huston, Albert Dudek, C. W. TeWinkle, Mrs. Louise Bechtold, Roy Davis, Nell Murbarger, Albert L. Howard, Everett A. Rea, Mrs. Minnie V. Reid, Mrs. Ruth McKenzie Erbe.

C. M. Chamber to Assemble Tonight

COSTA MESA.—A special meeting of the chamber of commerce is to be held tonight in Green hall. Chamber members are expected to be a proposal to widen the scope of the organization to include small ranchers and property owners, in addition to the business concerns of the community. The meeting will open at 7:30 p. m.

Theodora (Teddy) Raynor and Hugo Albright, whose late fathers were best friends, are mystified by peculiar letters they have been receiving from a Dr. John Smitting, travel-bureau operator, urging them to sign up for a cruise aboard a motor yacht, the Golden Gull. They call on him, and are told that it is being privately sponsored by an old friend of their fathers who wishes very much to have them in the party. A stranger, Denis Graham, calls on Teddy, tells her that he, too, has been invited on the cruise, and urges her not to go, hinting at danger. He says her father and Hugo's father once headed a secret society, the Order of the Golden Gull, of which he was a member, and he believes there is some menacing connection between this and the cruise. Teddy, instead of being frightened, is so intrigued that she decides to take the trip.

CHAPTER IV
FOR a while after Denis Graham left, Teddy sat thinking of all that he had said. Could his fantastic yarn about the Order of the Golden Gull really be true? It sounded like able to do every crazy thing that pops into your head!"

"But Auntie, why shouldn't I go? Why do you object?"

"Because I don't like the presumptuous way that man hounded you—I don't like the way you've taken in by every Tom, Dick or Harry who wants to get a slice of your money. I suppose, just because you're rich, he'll charge you twice as much as he would any one else!"

"I DON'T think so, Auntie. He seems to have lined up several passengers who are a lot wealthier than I am." Teddy mentioned John Carper and the Stoddards.

"Oh... are they going?" Aunt Elsie began to evince a little more interest. Then she bristled again. "Well, anyway, I don't like the idea—you know how I suffer at sea!"

"You don't have to go if you don't want to, Auntie."

"Do you think I'd let you go alone? The idea!"

Teddy seated herself on the arm of her aunt's chair, and put an arm around her.

"Be a sport, Auntie dear," she said coaxingly. "We'll probably have a swell time."

Aunt Elsie sighed. "You always get your way, Theodora—just like your father! I never could do a thing without you."

"Auntie... was Father given to secret societies—and things like that?"

her father, and yet she wondered.

But granting that was true, was there any basis for his suspicions about the cruise—any basis for his hint of danger. That, Teddy was more inclined to doubt. Still the whole business was certainly very mysterious.

She was still sitting there, thinking, when her aunt came in from a shopping expedition.

"Auntie," Teddy said at once "I've news for you. I'm going on that cruise."

Aunt Elsie flopped into a chair. "I knew it!" she said, in exasperation. "I just knew it! I told Hugo that if you went to see that Smitting man, he'd talk you into it! Your father should never have left you in control of all that money! Then you wouldn't be thing with him, either."

Teddy was silent a moment, then asked slowly, "Auntie, was Father given to secret societies—and things like that?"

"For heaven's sake, what but that into your head? But he probably was—it would be just the sort of thing that would appeal to him."

"You don't know of any one in particular though, do you?" asked Teddy.

"Why do you ask?" Aunt Elsie looked keenly at her.

"Oh... just something Hugo said."

Aunt Elsie hesitated, then said "No—I can't say I ever heard your father mention any such thing."

Teddy got the impression that her aunt was holding something back, but she was afraid to press the subject any further.

THE very next morning, she sent a check to Dr. Smitting to pay for cruise tickets for both herself and Aunt Elsie. She rather dreaded the prospect of breaking the news to Hugo, when he took her out to dinner that evening, but off mentioning it.

Then, to her surprise, she found that he already knew—and was remarkably calm about it.

"I dropped in to see Smitting again this afternoon," he said, "and I understand that you've decided to take the cruise. I suppose there's no use trying to stop you?"

"No," Teddy smiled sweetly. "Hugo shook his head. 'All I have to say is, that you're the stubbornest, most ornery girl I ever knew!'"

"Thanks."

Then, suddenly, Hugo grinned. "Well, anyway, I bought a ticket myself this afternoon."

"Oh, Hugo! Did you?"

"Yes, I did. I'd better come along and protect you."

"So you think I need protecting?"

"Maybe. I don't know. . . . Anyway, I'm touched, Hugo. And I think it's swell you're coming along!"

He reached for her hand and looked at her intently.

"Are you really glad I'm going?"

"Of course! But goodness, Hugo—why so intense? You cast a sort of spell," he said abruptly. Then, he rushed on. "Listen, Teddy, it's all very precipitate, but that's the way I am, and I want you to know that I ——" He stopped as abruptly as he had started.

Teddy's heart was pounding, but she laughed lightly.

"Hugo! This is so sudden! Are you, by any chance, trying to propose?"

"Yes, confound it, I am! You're the most exasperating girl on earth but the fact remains that I've fallen in love with you!"

Teddy was no longer laughing. She looked down at the little white scar on her wrist.

"You put your mark on me years ago," she said softly.

HUGO bent his head and kissed the little scar. For a moment, neither spoke.

"I'm frightened," he whispered, his shoulders and said briskly. "Well, now that I've told you my intentions, we can go on to other matters."

"Really, Hugo? Teddy was distinctly jaded. "You mean, I love in the most unusual fashion!"

"Just wanted to get it off my chest," he grinned. "And now, about this cruise. I understand someone else besides me tried to stop you."

"What?—what do you mean?"

"I mean Denis Graham. He came to see me, too."

"He did?"

"Yes, after he had seen you. A fantastic sort of tale he told, wasn't it?"

First Formal Rites of Fall Are Read By Bride's Father

Impressive and beautiful was the wedding of Miss Mary Lou McFarland, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. O. Scott McFarland, and Charles Stewart Meese, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lorenzen of Huntington Beach, when the couple exchanged vows Saturday evening at eight o'clock in the First Presbyterian church. Especially significant was the reading of the service by the bride's father before the candle-lit altar. A hint of autumn was carried out in the flowers, which were giant white chrysanthemums, backed by brilliant-toned fall leaves making a striking background for the bouquets. The bride's father, who was a part of her mother's wedding gown twenty-five years ago. She carried white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Bodman Weds Ray Lindman

Slender urns of massed white chrysanthemums, asters, and dainty baby's breath made the First Presbyterian church lovely for the second candle-light wedding service to be performed there during the week-end, when Miss Jeanette Bodman of Newport Beach became the bride of Ray Lindman of Los Angeles last evening.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bodman, was lovely in a princess-style frock of white satin, with a long veil extending over her long train. Caught in the veil was a single pastel orchid, matching the two that topped the ribbon-tied prayerbook she carried, and which had been carried by her mother at her wedding.

She was attended by both a matron and a maid of honor. The former was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Harvey Bodman, who wore a gown of teal blue moire taffeta and carried pink roses. The maid of honor was Mr. Lindman's sister, Miss Ruth Warner, down from Berkeley for the occasion. Her gown was of raisin-toned taffeta and she carried blue flowers. The two bridesmaids, Mrs. William Riley of San Diego and Mrs. Paul Farmer of Los Angeles, wore dusty pink moire taffeta with little jackets, and they wore blue flowers in their hair.

Attending the groom, who is the son of the late Mrs. Wade Warner of Santa Ana, were John W. Myers as best man, and Edwin L. Gearhart, Frederick R. Chapman, Sidney H. Wall, and Harvey E. Bodman as ushers. Halstead McCormack officiated at the organ and Robert Dozier was vocalist for the rites, which were performed by the Rev. O. Scott McFarland. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Following the eight o'clock ceremony, 75 of the 200 guests attended a reception held at the Visel Studio, with Mrs. Bodman, in muscatelle lace with navy touches, assisted in receiving by Mrs. Nelson Visel, in black. Assisting in serving wedding cake were Mrs. Halstead McCormack, Mrs. Lockwood Miller, and Mrs. Carl Lykke. An honored guest was Mrs. Harvey W. Marsac of Riverside, the bride's grandmother.

After month's northern honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Lindman will make their home in San Marino. The groom, a graduate of Stanford and Harvard law schools, is practicing in Los Angeles. The bride, who, for going-away, wore a smart furred rust-hued suit with green accessories, was graduated from Newport Harbor Union high school and Santa Ana Junior college.

CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY WITH PARTY

Master Fain Sutherland, son of Dr. and Mrs. K. H. Sutherland, was host at a party Saturday afternoon in the home of his parents, 2424 Riverside Drive, in celebration of his ninth birthday anniversary.

After a succession of enjoyable games, prizes were awarded to Donald Honer and Bobby Spears, and then Fain opened his many gifts.

The afternoon was climaxed when the young guests were led into the diningroom, where they found a birthday table centered with chrysanthemums, gala with confetti and individual birthday cakes surmounted by tiny dogs and cats which held lighted tapers.

MRS. VIGARS IS HONOR GUEST
Mrs. R. J. Vigars honored her husband Sunday with a pleasant birthday dinner in their home at 601 West Walnut street. She chose to use a red and white color scheme with white asters and red pompons set off by gay little favors and tapers.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mulvaney of Whittier, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Wetzel with Mildred and Mary, and Miss Josephine Wetzel of Glendale, with Mr. and Mrs. Vigars.

EASTERNER IS HONOREE AT SEVERAL AFFAIRS

A widely feted visitor to Santa Ana is Mrs. Carl Clare, sister of Mrs. John Geiger of 621 Riverine street. Mrs. Clare arrived last week from her home in St. Joseph, Mo.

Among several courtesies extended the eastern visitor was a tea which was co-hosted by Mrs. Luciah Dalton and Mrs. Geiger last Friday in the Geiger home, between the hours of three and five o'clock. Presiding at the table was Mrs. Clifford Patrick, in rose-crepe, and Mrs. Dalton was in navy and white. Mrs. Geiger in blue and gold crepe and the honoree in teal blue.

A dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Faulkner in their home at 1011 Orange avenue Saturday was another enjoyable affair with Mrs. Clare as honor guest. This Tuesday there will be a tea with Mrs. Kenneth Loughon, Mrs. Josh Wilson, and Mrs. John Fraley as hostesses in the Loughon home, as a courtesy to the sisters.

Mrs. Clare will leave Santa Ana late this week to spend some time with cousins in Los Angeles. She has been on many interesting trips around Southern California, and will take her sister with her when she leaves for Mexico, where they will spend a few days.

ANNUAL FALL SOCIAL ENJOYED BY BAPTISTS

Several score members and guests of the First Baptist church Women's society enjoyed the annual fall social meeting of that group last Friday evening. Bowls of vivid zinnias arranged by Mrs. Leslie M. Pearson and her committee radiated color in the social rooms where the affair was held.

Mrs. Russell Crouse presented Mrs. Charles G. N. Le as program chairman and she in turn presented David Craighead in piano numbers and as accompanist for Miss Charlotte Stafford in a group of violin selections. Miss Barbara Jones contributed a group of vocal numbers and Miss Lula Walker read a humorous play. Russell Crouse closed the program singing "In My Garden," and in response to encore demands, sang "American Lullaby."

At the lace-spread table Mrs. Harry Evan Owings and Mrs. Russell Crouse presided over the serving of fruit punch and waters.

MATRIMONIAL "FLOP" IS EXCUSE FOR WIFE TO LEAVE HOME

Life for the woman of today is chockful of many and varied interests—marriage, of course, is one of them. But marriage may prove to be a complete flop. And there is nothing flatter in the world than a marriage that "flops."

If a woman should sit by a fireplace filled with dead coals throughout the cold winter, shutting herself away from the warmth and cheerfulness of other hearths, we would say that she was void of reason and put her in a mental institution.

Why should a wife continue to stay by such a matrimonial hearth?

Dear Miss Stoddard: My problem is different to any of the many other matrimonial mixups you seem to unscrew so I hope you can help me as I am sure in need of it.

I have been married 20 years and have two fine children, nearly grown. Before we were married three years, friend hubby stepped out. Of course, he promised me then he'd never do it again. However, he has been doing it off and on, ever since.

He made a good salary until the depression came but he squan-

GAY PARTY IS CELEBRATION OF BIRTHDAY

Little Charlene Lou Rumell was a happy celebrant Saturday when a group of her friends gathered to fete her on her seventh birthday anniversary.

The party was held in the garden of the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rumell, 702 South Van Ness street. All sorts of games were played, with prizes going to Shirley Nail and Pauline Finney. A highlight of the day came with the tap dances presented by three of the little guests, Linda Huber, Jean Spielman, and Nayan McNeill.

Candies, cakes and ices were delicious refreshments, as was the punch served from an antique hobnail bowl that belonged to Charlene's great-grandmother. Mrs. Elizabeth Good, of Pasadena, assisted her mother in serving.

Guests and the honoree alike enjoyed the opening of presents to conclude the day. Present with Charlene were Joanna Rumell, her sister; Betty Louise, Mary, and Peggy Vernon, her cousins; and the Misses Jacqueline Strubel, Shirley Nail, Joy McNeill, Jolene Mitchell, Irene Scotten, Shirley Mandick, Marilyn Mitchell, Patsy Mitchell, Linda Huber, Jean Spielman, Nayan McNeill, Pauline Finney, Darlene Mandick, Ruth Fishbaugh, and Dorothy Fishbaugh.

About Folks

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Koster were Pomona fair visitors Saturday evening. That exhibition closed Sunday, breaking all previous records for attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Williams and Mrs. E. W. Curry were among other Santa Anas who inspected the Pomona fair Sunday.

John Rein, of Riverside, made a business trip to Santa Ana last week-end.

POETRY SECTION
Modern Poetry section of Ebell club will meet Tuesday at 3 p. m. at the home of Miss Beulah May, at the corner of Fruit and Mabury streets. Miss Vancie Plumb will be co-hostess.

Striking fall tones were lovely in the bowls of dahlias and zinnias about the attractive Maylen home, many of them the courtesy of Mrs. F. J. Herschler, Mrs. John J. Vernon, and Mrs. Joe Steele.

At the close of the affair, Mrs. Maylen presented high-score prizes to Mrs. Ray Wyckoff and Mrs. Joe Steele, and an honor prize to Mrs. John J. Vernon.

Gathered to visit with Mrs. Allen and enjoy Mrs. Maylen's hospitality were Mrs. Paul Anderson, Mrs. F. J. Herschler, Mrs. Joe Steele, Mrs. Lloyd Folger, Mrs. John J. Vernon, Mrs. Charles Rumell, Mrs. Ray Wyckoff, Mrs. Nelson Johnson, Mrs. Harvey Dimmitt, Mrs. Carter Cannon of Corona, and Mrs. Orville Stout of Long Beach.

DINNER FETES MISS WHITE ON ANNIVERSARY
Because Miss Marjorie White's birthday anniversary was Saturday, she was a surprise when on invitation to dinner at the home of Miss Betty McAuley, 1319 North Broadway, she found a group of friends assembled there to fete her Friday night.

The dinner table was cleverly set with a miniature football field and gumdrop players upon it, and after a delicious meal, the group adjourned to the municipal bowl to watch the junior college game.

Present with Miss White and Miss McAuley were Carl Miller, Betty Preble, Enid Jones, Jane Dale, Shirley Wolven, Ruth Ames, Connie O'Donnell and Violet Klimgan.

Fifty-Fifty Club Enjoys Dinner Dance

Fifty-Fifty club members swung into their fall season with an enjoyable dinner-dance Saturday night at which formal attire was worn for the first time since last spring. Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Bruning, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kraemer and Mr. and Mrs. Heber Fowler were hosts at the affair, receiving the guests in beautiful Hotel Mayfair, Los Angeles.

Mrs. Bruning wore an attractive frock of black with dusty pink applique. Mrs. Kraemer was stunning in silver lace, and Mrs. Fowler wore a quaint frock of white quilted taffeta with the new drop sleeves.

Among those glimpsed about the table with its decorations of autumn leaves and tawny chrysanthemums, and dancing to the music of Clarence Williams and his Knights of Swing, were Mrs. Wayne Harrison, striking in black velvet beaded in pearls; Mrs. LeRoy Burns in black crepe with touches of silver; Mrs. Ralph Culp in cream lace over blue; Mrs. Edward Farnsworth in cyclamen red taffeta; Mrs. Lawrence Mitchell in blue crepe; Mrs. Estee Brown in black taffeta; Mrs. Elton McCoy, in lovely pink net and taffeta; Mrs. Ray Hiniker in black net with touches of tangerine velvet; Mrs. Riley Huber in black taffeta and net; Mrs. Leland Finley in flame taffeta, and Mrs. Hume West in black taffeta.

Guest list of the affair included Miss Florence Backs, Miss Mildred Lewis, Al Fernandez, Paul Beckman, John Frame, and the Messrs. and Mesdames Verlin Anderson, Estee Brown, E. F. Bruning, LeRoy Burns, Earl Crockett, Ralph Culp, Edward Farnsworth, Leland Finley, Heber Fowler, William Grafton, H. B. Greene, Wayne Harrison, Ray Hiniker, Riley Huber, Sam Kraemer, Ewald Lempe, Everett Lutz, Lawrence Mitchell, Elton McCoy, Stanley Norton, Lawrence Reynolds, Ralph Sampson, James Tuma, and Hume West.

AUXILIARY VOTES TO JOIN STATE GROUP

Women's auxiliary of the Orange County Osteopathic association met at Fullerton Saturday afternoon with Mrs. W. W. Ilsey and Mrs. Jackson Scott acting as co-hostesses in the Ilsey home.

Miss Julia Magill, president, opened a business meeting at which final plans for a rummage sale, to be held Oct. 29 in Santa Ana, were made. Mrs. Lawrence Young is chairman of the sale, with Mrs. A. E. Vallier and Mrs. H. J. Howard supervising a side cooked food sale.

Of principal interest was the group's voting to join the California organization of Osteopathic Women's auxiliaries. Mrs. Scott was appointed to accompany Miss Magill to Los Angeles Oct. 17 to perfect the joining. Mrs. Howard was appointed editor of the O. W. N. A. bulletin.

In an enjoyable program Mrs. Scott presented a group of songs, accompanied by a guest artist, Mrs. Harold Nielsen. Mrs. H. W. Leeling gave a reading and Dr. Peryl Magill presented a paper on "Sanitation Around the World."

Present were Dr. Peryl Magill, Dr. Mary E. Wright, Mrs. A. E. Vallier, Mrs. H. W. Leeling, Mrs. R. W. Tibbets, Mrs. Jackson Scott, Mrs. Loman Adams, Mrs. Lawrence Young, Mrs. G. Ilsey, Miss Julia Magill and Mrs. W. W. Ilsey.

VISITOR IS INSPIRATION FOR PARTY

The pleasure many Santa Ana friends have found in Mrs. Curtis Allen's visit to her former home here and with her mother in Long Beach, was augmented by a delightful party given Friday afternoon by Mrs. Harold Maylen, complimenting the Monterey matrons.

Striking fall tones were lovely in the bowls of dahlias and zinnias about the attractive Maylen home, many of them the courtesy of Mrs. F. J. Herschler, Mrs. John J. Vernon, and Mrs. Joe Steele.

At the close of the affair, Mrs. Maylen presented high-score prizes to Mrs. Ray Wyckoff and Mrs. Joe Steele, and an honor prize to Mrs. John J. Vernon.

Gathered to visit with Mrs. Allen and enjoy Mrs. Maylen's hospitality were Mrs. Paul Anderson, Mrs. F. J. Herschler, Mrs. Joe Steele, Mrs. Lloyd Folger, Mrs. John J. Vernon, Mrs. Charles Rumell, Mrs. Ray Wyckoff, Mrs. Nelson Johnson, Mrs. Harvey Dimmitt, Mrs. Carter Cannon of Corona, and Mrs. Orville Stout of Long Beach.

WEEKLY BOOK REVIEW

By MOLLY HARVEY
Editor's Note: This is one of a series of weekly book reviews of current publications which will appear each Monday in The Journal

Review of "Where Now, Little Jew," by Magnus Hermansson. By MOLLY HARVEY
In this scholarly approach to the present-day problem of the Jewish peoples, Magnus Hermansson presents a solution which many readers will find impractical if not repugnant, according to their individual degree of anti-Semitism. But no one can doubt the author's sincerity of purpose nor fail to admire his ability to treat mankind as a cosmic whole. His tenets are those of a professed Christian, but in these days when governments and business seem helpless, it is significant that people more and more are seeking an answer in the teachings of Christ.

In order to follow Mr. Hermansson's reasoning, the reader must accept the premises, not very logically explained despite liberal quotations from eminent authorities, that the only difference between Jew and Gentile is a matter of religion. According to the author, Jews are neither a nation nor a race, but a religious nationality, and those Jews who have abandoned Judaism are no longer Jews. Furthermore the religion of Judaism, which teaches Jews that they are the chosen people of God, is responsible for many of the characteristics which Gentiles find so odious, so that in turn, whenever the two peoples have lived side by side, history shows that through all ages Gentiles have discriminated against and persecuted Jews.

To date, the only wide scale approach to a settlement of the Jewish problem has been Zionism, that attempt on the part of thousands to have both a nationality and a Jewish mother country. But Mr. Hermansson believes that Zionism is doomed to failure. Emotionally the colonization of any other given land, is dangerous to the Jews since it feeds on Jew hatred. Practically the project will not work because, as shown already in Palestine, the Jewish population is composed of a small group of orthodox fanatics and a crowd of rank materialists. "The individuals recognize only one law, their own good, and have only one objective, profit; even at the cost of their own people, and the success of the whole movement."

Therefore the author believes that the solution of the Jewish question depends upon the conversion of the Jews to Christ, for Christianity, teaching that all men are equal in the sight of God, alone can free Jews from the delusions forced upon them by the Talmud. But to make this sacrifice on the part of the Jews a success, Gentiles, too, must be converted to Christ, must accept the Jewish people in the spirit of brotherly love.

With the religious barrier overcome, the author is confident that racial and economic assimilation would follow. However, three generations of intermarriage and acceptance as fellow citizens Jewish minorities would be absorbed into the national body of those countries which as individuals they have chosen for their homes.

DINNER IS SERVED TO ENTHUSIASTS
Mr. and Mrs. Alan Revill, 2215 North Ross street, gave the initial dinner of the season before the football game on Friday night.

The same group met last year for these pleasant little dinners, and will continue the custom again. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Hammond, Mrs. Lucius Smith, Mr. and Mrs. David Howell, M. B. Wellington and Mr. and Mrs. Loyal King.

LONG BEACH GROUP IS HOSTESS

Women's Orange County Dental auxiliary met with the Third District Women's Dental auxiliary in Long Beach one day recently, when the latter group was luncheon hostess at the Virginia Country club. The affair was in honor of the Southern California state president, Mrs. R. B. Lichtenwalter, who was elected to that office three weeks ago at the Coronado convention.

Other officers are Mrs. John L. Wehrly, president-elect, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Chester Weber, vice president, San Diego; Mrs. Cecil Neff, secretary, of San Diego, and Mrs. F. W. Stebbins, treasurer, of Santa Barbara.

Orange county women attending the luncheon were Mrs. John Wehrly, Mrs. Harvey Spears, Mrs. C. P. Tomkins, Mrs. Charles Schultz, Mrs. Howard Tewes, Mrs. W. C. McCarthy and Mrs. Douglas Hough.

MARY HAMPTON

Will Help You With Your Clothes Problem. Write Her!

A sweet clutter of things! And that, if you please, summarizes fashions for fall. For evening, gone are the sleek heads. In their places have come a fro-frou pile of seductive curls. Into these curls are tucked jewels and ribbons and feathers, and heading them up are more ornate little combs.

About the neck once so boldly bare, we now have thick collars of jewels—or bands of velvet, swirls of rich fur, little bows and frills and bits of seduction.

On a smartly dressed woman's wrist are beaded and more bracelets, preferably dangle and musical and sparkly. And on the other wrist may be tied a velvet ribbon, even, with a bow. She will have long, expensive soft gloves with a bit of embroidery or jeweling on them, and in her hands she will carry lavishly decorated little bags in which are vials of perfumes and jeweled cigarette cases, decorative lip sticks and mirrors and a hundred and one other feminine foibles.

Her skirt will be tremendously full, and there will be frilly petticoats beneath it. She will have shashes and flounces, even ribbons run through beadings, and all sorts of frills. There will be puffers and gathers and shirrings and sometimes festoons of flowers in the new fullness of these skirts.

Only this sweet clutter of things does not belong in the classroom. And it cannot go into the office. It just must not try to go shopping on a hectic modern street, for it does not belong to either vegetable stands or escalators!

HOSTESS-TRIO COMPLIMENTS MRS. ARNOLD

An array of lovely layette gifts was presented Mrs. Milton Arnold one day late last week when she was honoree at a pretty party given by Mrs. G. F. Ludlow, Mrs. Fern Smith, and Mrs. Lillian Dawson in the Dawson home at 521 South Birch street.

A stork hovering over a cradle, with a baby in its mouth, was center of attention in the living room, which was effectively decorated with pale pink dahlias.

A late refreshment course was served after bridge games had been presented Mrs. Clyde Higgins, Mrs. Amanda Holmes, and Mrs. Annie Arnold for their high scores.

Guests of the hostess-trio were the Mesdames Eugene Reiber, Mae Covey, Floyd Gage, Jessie Overton, Jud Sutherland, Amanda Holmes, Letta Hoefler, Annie Arnold, Clyde Higgins, Sue Walker, Mildred Matthews, Ethel Johnson, Ann Sayers, and Miss Mary Belle Arnold.

LEGION WOMEN MEET TOMORROW

Instead of meeting as scheduled on Thursday night of this week, American Legion auxiliary will convene tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. At that time convention reports will be heard.

Coinciding with this announcement was the stressing to the public that on Oct. 7 and 8 will be the annual jam and jelly drive conducted by the auxiliary.

Surprise Scores Mark Play In Coast Conference Feller Sets Mark By Whiffing 18

OREGON LEADS AFTER WIN OVER BRUINS

By RUSS NEWLAND
SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Far western football fans have had a lot of surprises in their time, but last week's dizzy spin of unexpected happenings probably established a new record.

Those who thought Idaho would tie Washington, 12-12, and that Oregon would defeat the University of California at Los Angeles, 14 to 12, could have huddled together under an average sized blanket.

STANFORD BEATEN EASILY

Not many figured Santa Clara would wipe up the gridiron with Stanford by such a one-sided count as 22 to 0. Southern California was a heavy favorite to steamroller over Oregon State, but at the finish it was only 7 to 0. U. S. C. on the long side.

Of the Pacific Coast conference teams, University of California also ran true to predictions, yet its 27 to 3 win over Washington State was tempered by the fact W. S. C. offered feeble opposition.

The outcomes produced these facts: Oregon and California, rated as second-division clubs in the pre-season size-up, are the best of the conference lot. Washington, Southern California and Stanford, opening favorites, have many weaknesses to be corrected, Stanford being completely disorganized.

The inability of Washington to get nothing better than a draw with Idaho, however, does not detract from the showing of the Vandal eleven. Apparently Coach Ted Bank has rounded up the finest team since he took over the reins there. His boys cracked down on Oregon State for a 13-to-0 win in this season's opener. Comparatively, O. S. C. held U. S. C. to a 7-0 lead.

Lucky for the eight round-robin schedule members of the conference that Idaho does not enjoy this set-up as it did before the revision of the circuit. The Vandels, on their showing thus far, might have wound up taking it all.

In view of last Saturday's results, some of the coaches and a lot of the expert observers looked forward to this week-end's contests with the self-assurance of a one-legged man boxing a swarm of bees.

HUSKIES VS. BRUINS

Conference contests are slated for two fronts, with Washington against U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles and Washington State against Stanford on the latter's home field. On last week's showings, the forthcoming encounters stacked up as even, take your choice. The West Coast's intersectional thriller was promised in the meeting between Texas A. & M. and Santa Clara.

Idaho takes on North Dakota at Moscow, and figures to inch a lot of the expert observers' attention on the latter's home field. Santa Ana may have a real job on its hands to win from University of Portland, while California has more or less of a warm-up in a double-header with the California Aggies and the College of the Pacific.

Montana meets De Paul at Missoula, and Southern California travels back to Columbus for a tough go with Ohio State.

Series Stuff! A's Won Two In 1910-11; Built '$100,000 Infield'

Mack (Left) and Coombs

By DILLON GRAHAM, Associated Press Sports Writer.
(Ed's Note: This is the second of six articles on World Series history.)
Connie Mack, the constant builder, popped up with world championship teams again in 1910-11. With Harry Davis still stationed at first base, Mack filled his infield with young stars, Eddie Collins, Jack Barry and Frank (Home) Baker, the Babe Ruth of his day. Jack Coombs shared hurling honors with Eddie Plank and "Chief" Bender.

The A's won easily in 1910, 4-1, the Chicago Cubs' only victory coming on a 10-inning decision gained by Mordecai (Three Fingers) Brown. Coombs equalled Christy Mathewson's string of three victories.

The Athletics added John (Stuffy) McInnis at first base in 1911 and created the $100,000 infield. The Giants paced the National league with such stars as Doyle, Merkle, Fletcher and Herzog, with Ames and Rube Marzocchi pitching alongside Matty. The A's won 4-2, with Matty losing two games. Matty sent the Giants out front with a triumph in the opening battle.

This was the first of three successive appearances by the Giants, and as many defeats, in the fall classic. The Boston Red Sox, with "Smoky Joe" Wood pitching and an outfield that ranks with the best of all time—Duffy Lewis, Tris Speaker, and Harry Hooper—won 4-3 in 1912 with one tie game (11 innings).

This hard-fought series is remembered chiefly for a costly error, the dropping of a fly ball by Fred Snodgrass—a performance that aided Boston in winning the final game. This became known as the $30,000 miff, as it represented the difference between shares of receipts of the winning and losing teams.

The Giants were easy pickings for the Philadelphia A's in 1913, New York's only triumph coming on Matty's 10-inning shutout.

BOTH DONS AND SAINTS PERFORMING BELOW PAR
Santa Ana football fans have begun to wonder when—and if—they can expect a better band of play from Bill Cook's Dons and Bill Foote's Saints.

The junior college has played three games and the high school two, and all five of the exhibitions have been ragged for the most part.

Fumbles, incomplete passes, ragged blocking, poor punting, bad passes from center! The two teams probably have committed more blunders than their championship outfits of '37 were guilty of the entire season.

U. C. L. A. Frosh invade the Municipal bowl Friday night to play the junior college. Huntington Beach's Oilers play the high school here Friday afternoon. We hope that in these games the Dons and Saints will start playing better ball so we will know what to expect when the conference season opens next week.

In spite of their inconsistent showing, the Dons have managed to win two of their three non-conference starts. They lost to Pasadena, 31-19 but defeated Santa Monica 21-0 and Los Angeles 6-0. But the fans have seen nothing to indicate that Santa Ana will be a leading threat in the Eastern conference.

The Saints, in losing a Long Beach Woodrow Wilson 7-0 and Long Beach Poly 13-0, have clearly indicated they are not ready to defend their Citrus Belt league championship.

OLIVER INSTILLS SPIRIT INTO OREGON'S ELEVEN
G. A. (Tex) Oliver, Santa Ana's contribution to Pacific Coast conference coaching ranks, is riding high at the University of Oregon.

The Webfoots, with 10-2 and 14-12 victories over Washington State and U. C. L. A. behind them, have made spectacular progress under Oliver's direction, and it wouldn't be surprising if Oregon upset Stanford at Palo Alto Oct. 15. While Santa Clara was outclassing Stanford 22-0 Saturday, Oregon was rolling up 214 yards from scrimmage to U. C. L. A.'s 54, and outgaining the Bruins in first downs, 13-6. Oliver has given Oregon a flashy offense and a sturdy defense.

PIRATES' COLLAPSE NO FAULT OF MACE BROWN
It was no fault of Mace Brown that the Pittsburgh Pirates folded up in the National league pennant race, and lost out to the Chicago Cubs.

The big right-hander did a remarkable job this year as a relief hurler, taking part in nearly 50 games. His record of 15 victories against 7 losses does not begin to tell his usefulness to Manager Pie Traynor.

Can you imagine the gloom that is hovering over Pittsburgh? The Pirates' collapse undoubtedly will be the chief topic of conversation in hotel lobbies, offices and barber shops for several weeks. . . . And not all of the gloom is being spread in Pittsburgh. Orange County baseball fans regret that Fullerton's great player, Floyd (Arky) Vaughan, who had one of his best seasons at shortstop with the Pirates, will miss the World Series with the Yankees.

PADRES RELEASE SHELLENBACK AS PILOT; SACS WIN PLAYOFF

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Pacific Coast league baseball was buttoned up for another year today with the Sacramento Senators winning $5000 and a $500 trophy—and the San Diego Padres losing a manager.

The Senators clinched the trophy and five grand yesterday by taking a double-header from the San Francisco Seals, 3 to 1 and 4 to 1, to give them the four games needed to win the Shaughnessy playoff. In three games played at Sacramento last week the Seals won one game and then returned to mid-season form to lose two by one-sided scores.

San Francisco, which squeezed into the playoffs by two percentage points, got $2500 for its trouble. The Seals and the Solons eliminated Seattle and Los Angeles, respectively, in the preliminary Shaughnessy series.

The Coast league pennant went to the Los Angeles team for winding up the scheduled season in first place.

The San Diego Padres, who were nosed out of the playoffs by two percentage points, will have a new manager next season.

Frank Shellenback, who led the Padres for three years here and one year while the franchise was in Hollywood, was notified by Charles A. Baum, secretary of the club, that he had been given his unconditional release. No reason was given for his dismissal.

Cedric Durst, traded to Hollywood in exchange for a pitched by San Diego in mid-season, was mentioned as a possible successor to Shellenback.

L. A. FIGHTERS HEAD CARD HERE TONIGHT

"Red" O'Shannon, Mexican slugger from Boyle Heights, is booked to trade punches with Jim McDaniels of Los Angeles tonight in the top half of the double main event at the Orange County Athletic club. The show opens at 8:30 o'clock.

In the second half of the double main event, Wayne Penn, Seal Beach fighter who has slugged his way out of the preliminaries, meets Frankie Garcia of Boyle Heights. After winning his last two fights over the knockout route, Penn is expected to run into a little difficulty with Garcia, who is a tough boy in his own right and has a little more ring experience than Penn.

Down in the preliminaries little Bob Blake, Santa Ana Junior college boxer who won his first two starts, also will meet a little tougher opposition when he fights Steven Silva in the opener. Silva, a clever Filipino from Los Angeles, has had more ring experience than Blake and is a consistent puncher. Fans who have seen them both in action, however, are stringing along with Blake to win his match.

Other bouts: Pete O'Neil vs. Sammy Fielder; Steve Stanoch vs. Al Placentia; Tino Sanchez vs. Jim Mahoney; Pop Jackson vs. Gab Sales; Ad Povers vs. Joe Rock.

BUDGE HANDED TWO DEFEATS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Australia had the men's singles title clinched and a fighting chance for the doubles crown as the Pacific Southwest tennis tournament neared its close today.

Adrian Quist, surprise conqueror of Saturday of World Singles Champion Donald Budge, and Harry Hopman, 34, non-playing captain of the Australian Davis cup team, who as startlingly eliminated John Bromwich, his pupil, yesterday, were to battle it out this afternoon for the Pacific Southwest title.

Hopman, after subduing Bromwich 6-3, 6-3, 10-8, teamed with a fellow countryman, Leonard Schwartz, to eliminate Budge and Gene Mako, world doubles champions, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Compulsory social security has existed in Germany for more than 40 years.

Battles Gunnar Barlund Tonight

BARLUND AND SAINTS, DONS NOVA FIGHT PLAY HERE

NEW YORK. (AP)—Two of the best of the young heavyweights—after you pass over the distance between Champion Joe Louis and his nearest contender—clash at Madison Square Garden tonight in a 15-round bout between Gunnar Barlund of Finland and Lou Nova of California.

Neither is of title caliber yet, but tonight's bout may settle which one must be reckoned with in the future. They're both big and strong and rated as highly promising. Both have fine records for the short time they've been fighting. Barlund, after a slump last year, has won four of his last six fights by the knockout route. Nova numbers such good fighters as Phil Barabaker, Bob Pastor and Bob Nestell among his victims.

Tuning up for their league openers next week, Santa Ana Jaycee's Dons and Santa Ana High school's Saints will clash in important practice games here Friday.

The U. C. L. A. Frosh, defeated 14-7 by the University of California yearlings Saturday, invade the Municipal bowl Friday night to play Santa Ana's Dons.

Huntington Beach High school's Oilers, who were outclassed 12-0 by Tustin's flashy Tillers in a practice game at Huntington Beach last Friday, will come here Friday afternoon to battle Bill Foote's Saints, who have dropped successive 7-0 and 13-0 games to Long Beach's two prep elevens—Woodrow Wilson and Poly.

Ohio State Has 210-Pound Line, 190-Pound Backfield; Injuries Bench Star Back

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Ohio State's grid team—a tough outfit according to outside experts but just a better-than-average squad to the downtown coaches of the Buckeye capital—will play its 1938 campaign "the hard way."

Coach Francis A. Schmidt, warning the folks not to be too optimistic, cited these mournful menaces:

Fullback John Rabb, counted on to do most of the ball-toting, is out for most of the season with a torn knee ligament.

Sophomores, one at center and two in the backfield, threaten to do Schmidt's wide open style of play little good until they gain a bit of experience under fire, and by that time it may be too late.

The starting lineup which has emerged from several weeks of workouts is a heavy but speedy one. The line averages about 210 pounds and the backfield 190.

With Rabb on the sidelines, most of Ohio's offensive hopes are wrapped up in big Don Scott, 200-pound left halfback from Canton, Ohio. The sophomore is a triple-threat luminary and key man in the backfield.

More than half of the squad of 56 is made up of sophomores, 30 being yearlings, 15 lettermen and 11 having seen some service a year ago. Despite the lack of experience, Schmidt is sticking to the razz-dazzle type of play which carried the Bucks to one western conference title and three second places in the last four years.

FRED PERRY WINS
CHICAGO. (AP)—Fred Perry of England, the former king of American and British amateur tennis, had more titles today to add to his impressive collection—the national professional singles and a share of the doubles championships.

DRIVER KILLED IN L. A. RACE

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Death flagged down Bud Minaryd, 25, in the "Jalopy Derby" at South Gate Speedway.

On the 96th lap of a 100-lap race, Minaryd's 10-year-old car blew out a tire, skidded and overturned.

The young driver, crushed between front and back seats, died en route to a hospital. Yesterday's fatality was the second in three years of the derby.

Feller Sets Mark By Whiffing 18

CHICAGO. (AP)—Those scrapping Chicago Cubs, not a truly great ball club, but hotter than is lawful, came home today to a jubilant townsfolk, bring with them another National league pennant.

There was a parade for Gabby Hartnett's club, starting at Wrigley field and winding down through the city, in tarty tribute to a bunch of fellows who didn't know when they were licked.

The players, who clinched the flag only two days ago at St. Louis and were somewhat the worse for wear, would vastly have preferred to spend the day in strenuous resting up for the start of the world series here Wednesday against the New York Yankees. But there's no putting off of a parade once the confetti is paid for.

The boys dashed home from St. Louis last night on a special train, and everything was very sober, for the celebrating all had been attended to on the previous evening. The shouting long since had died, and the most exciting thing during the return of the heroes was a heart game at the end of the club car, with Hartnett looking quietly on.

FELLER SETS MARK
CLEVELAND. (AP)—Bob Feller, young Cleveland Indian marvel, hit the glory trail here yesterday when he struck out 18 Detroit Tigers to shatter "Dizzy" Dean's major league mark of 17 in one game. Feller, however, lost the game, 4 to 1.

When they finish their parading today, the senior league champs won't have a thing to do until 11 a. m. tomorrow, when they are scheduled for a brief practice at Wrigley field. The Yanks are to work in the afternoon. The Cubs, by the way, claim they are not at all scared of the Yanks.

This reporter canvassed them last night on the train, and the tenor of their remarks was: "The dice are rolling for us. We're hot. If this only keeps up well, give those Yankees the surprise of their young lives. Give us our share of the breaks and we'll beat 'em."

The Cubs are laying great store by the wisdom of Tony Lazzeri, the unsmiling ex-Yankee, who came to them this season as a coach. They reason that Tony should know the weakness of every Yankee, except, possibly, that of Joe Gordon, who succeeded him at second base. Jack Russell, one of the Cub pitchers, spent a season in the American league, and he should know what the Yankee batters don't like, too.

One thing for sure about this Cubs' team, it isn't licked now. After the cat-fight it has been through the past month, in which it had to win 21 out of 25 games to nose out the Pittsburgh Pirates, it isn't likely to get in a strained condition about the World Series. The players seem to feel that they are over the hump, and they are a relaxed lot of athletes. They might do pretty good against the Yankees.

Hartnett, the big catcher-manager, is grinning again and wearing his cigar at a cocky angle. He has two badly damaged fingers, jammed by foul tips on Thursday and Friday, yet he swears he will be in there when the shooting starts on Wednesday. Augie Galan, regular outfielder, still is in the hospital with a twisted knee and won't get into the series, but Phil Cavaretta will replace him with no appreciable loss of strength.

Hartnett says he won't decide upon his pitching choice for the first game before tomorrow night, at the earliest, but it is almost a foregone conclusion that he will lead with Bill Lee, his 22-game winner, following up with Clay Bryant and Dizzy Dean. There is a suspicion that Gabby would like to shoot Dean at the Yankees in the opener, because Diz has an awful lot of "moxie" and is a money pitcher. Yet it wouldn't be right to deny Lee the honor.

FOOTBALL SITUATION: Well, well and well. . . Prof. Crisler did all right for himself out at Michigan, didn't he? . . . And Prof. Lou Little at Yale—what was the matter with him? . . . If you know the learned tactician, you know that when he starts shedding those crocodile tears, he has a lot more in his pocket than turkish towels. . . We sort of thought Bo McMillin and Co. would sneak up and topple Ohio State. . . And Tuss McLaughry of Brown can step up for a bow. . . His team beating Harvard was not entirely unexpected, but it was a feat, nevertheless.

Major Biff Jones' stand against Minnesota showed one and all they had better keep the storm warnings up. . . Clemson, after a great start, folded against big time opposition. . . Just the same Red Dawson of Tulane, who lost to Clemson in the opener and tied with Auburn Saturday, will have to step fast to show his team is of Southeastern conference caliber. . . Alabama and Tennessee are the class down there. . . By the way, where was that Florida whizzbang we have been hearing about? . . . Also Rice? . . . We picked Notre Dame to drop five or six. . . They beat Kansas 52-0. . . Consoling thought: Maybe it was the "B" team old Elmer Layden had in there.

Suppose you've already noted that the Pirates eliminated the Reds from the National league race, and then the Reds turned around and eliminated the Pirates—which we call pouring it on. . . The Pittsburgh pitcher in both instances was Red Lucas, an old Red. . . This is baseball for you: Bob Feller fans 15 Detroiters to win the major league strikeout record, but loses the ball game. . . You may be looking at the next heavyweight champion of the world when you watch Gunnar Barlund against Lou Nova tonight.

Al Simmons Fined For Cursing Fans

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Owner Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators said today he was recommending further punishment for Outfielder Al Simmons, whom he fined $200 yesterday for cursing fans who heckled him.

"Simmons' actions were disgraceful," Griffith declared. He said he was sending the facts to Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball's high commissioner, and to American league officials.

HIGHEST COURT REASSEMBLES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The supreme court, reassembling today for a new eight months term, found a bumper crop of litigation—including fresh attacks on major administration laws—awaiting its attention.

The first session after a summer recess is limited to admitting attorneys to practice and hearing motions. For the next week, however, the eight justices will be busy passing on approximately 350 petitions for review of lower court decisions which have accumulated during the four-month adjournment.

Announcement of the action decided upon will be made next Monday.

At that time arguments also will begin on cases the court agreed last spring to review. These include an attack by 18 private power companies on the constitutionality of the Tennessee Valley Authority act.

Among the petitions awaiting action is an appeal by Thomas J. Mooney, serving a life sentence in San Quentin penitentiary for complicity in the 1916 preparedness day parade bombing in San Francisco. He lost his fight for freedom before the California supreme court.

There also are several controversies growing out of interpretations of the national labor relations act, including the Ford Motor company case.

Speculation was renewed as the court convened over when President Roosevelt is likely to fill the vacancy caused by the death last July 9 of Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo. The belief was widespread that he would wait until congress meets next January. The senate must confirm any nomination.

Those who have been mentioned for the position include Felix Frankfurter, Harvard professor of law; Harold Stephens of Utah, a judge of the United States court of appeals for the District of Columbia; and Thurman Arnold of Wyoming, an assistant United States attorney general in charge of anti-trust activities.

There have been rumors that some of the present justices might retire soon on account of age. Those usually mentioned are 81-year-old Louis D. Brandeis and 76-year-old James C. McReynolds. Neither has given any indication, however, that he planned to leave the bench.

The ages of other members of the court are Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, 76; Justices Pierce Butler, 72; Harlan F. Stone, 67; Owen J. Roberts, 63; Stanley F. Reed, 53, and Hugo L. Black, 52.

Competition Tough In Holdup Trade

CHICAGO.—Two gunmen entered a filling station and announced a holdup.

"The early bird catches the worm. In other words, I'm fresh out of cash," replied Philip Zitek, the attendant. He added that a lone gunman had robbed him an hour previously.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB
(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

Three hundred twenty Townsends heard Rev. Joe Nation of Long Beach deliver a most inspiring Townsend lecture in Santa Ana at the Orange City mass meeting Saturday night. His address was preceded by a concert by the Hurd-Lentz orchestra, which put the audience in a jolly mood and furnished just the right setting for the ladies of Santa Ana Club No. 8, who served ice cream, cake and coffee during the evening.

Walter R. Robb, county organizer, was master of ceremonies. Walter B. Baugh, song leader, and Mrs. T. F. Cruzen pianist.

Entertainment consisted of community singing and a couple of dance and song numbers contributed by sweet little Miss Geraldine Knight, 6-year-old daughter of Mrs. Lucile Knight of this city. Mrs. Knight and her daughter were introduced by Philip S. Doolittle.

Accompanying Rev. Nation to Santa Ana were Mrs. Nation and their 15-year-old daughter, Alma-delle. Rev. Nation is pastor of the Trinity Baptist church in Long Beach and the address he gave Saturday night was the 132nd Townsend lecture he has given during his more than four year association with the Townsend movement. Rev. Nation, different from many of our city pastors, gloried in his privilege of being a voice in a wilderness of economic difficulties, pointing out a pathway to national recovery through the medium of enacting the Townsend Plan principles into legislation. He began his address by saying, "I am not trying to be spectacular, but I thank God I am Townsend through and through."

He told of his personal acquaintance with Mayor C. T. Johnson, congressional candidate from this district and of how he would boost for his election if he were the Townsendites, saying: "Because he is genuinely Townsend and the Lord pity those who turn aside from sticking with genuine Townsend candidates."

Taking from the subject "Straight Ahead," Rev. Nation stressed the ability of the Townsend organization to educate the public with an understanding of the correctness and practicalness of the Townsend Plan, and to bring to the nation the abundant life which it will make possible. He lauded Dr. Townsend as having a way of national recovery which could be achieved peaceably and with profit and betterment to all classes of American citizens. He predicted an economic situation in the nation even more chaotic than at present unless the Townsend Plan is adopted speedily.

The Tustin club is serving a pot-luck dinner at 6:30 this evening in the Townsend club building at West Main and C streets, which according to announcement that is being made is guaranteed to take the wrinkles out of certain portions of your avoirdupois. Of course the guarantee might not hold good if you fail to take along a covered dish for the tables. After the dinner a business meeting will be held, over which D. L. Thomas, president, will preside.

Oceanview Club No. 1 is having the Republican-Townsend endorsed Mayor C. T. Johnson of San Bernardino as its speaker at a mass meeting being held in the Oceanview grammar school auditorium.

L. A. CLEANUP CONTINUES; 27 MORE NABBED

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Police raids made 21 vice and gambling arrests during a busy Sabbath, while Fletcher Bowron, Los Angeles' new reform mayor, was telling a rally of his campaign workers that "we've just begun to fight."

Eleven women and six men were taken into custody on morals charges in the downtown district. Four operators of "roll down" games at Venice were booked on gambling charges.

Mayor Bowron, addressing an open air meeting of 4000 adherents in the Griffith Park Greek theater yesterday, declared: "I have asked two persons to accept jobs as city commissioners. Each refused. But I assure you they are going to serve."

Sometimes we must shame a citizen—the right type of citizen—into accepting such public office. I hope within a few years it will be such an honor to serve on a city commission that our biggest citizens will be scrambling for the jobs."

The mayor has requested the resignation of 117 commissioners who held office during the previous administration of Frank L. Shaw.

WAR RESUMED ON EBRO FRONT

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier) (AP)—Militiamen were counter-attacking on the Ebro front, government dispatches reported today, in an effort to recapture positions lost to insurgents over the week-end.

The government line was concentrated on "Hill 424" where insurgents reported breaking through successive lines of government fortifications along a two-kilometer front.

A giant air battle was fought over the Ebro front with some 50 warplanes participating. Government planes shot down 25 of the insurgents' planes. Insurgents claimed they downed six enemy aircraft.

On the second anniversary of his assumption of power over the insurgent government, Gen. Francisco Franco received a congratulatory message from Chancellor Adolf Hitler.

Suspended Term in SRA Fraud Case

Mike Mercado, Santa Ana hatchery worker, was given a suspended sentence as the result of his defrauding the state out of nearly $300 in SRA funds. Justice Kenneth Morrison suspended sentence for two years to 14 months, but required Mercado to pay $5 a month for that period toward giving the state back funds obtained by fraud when Mercado signed a statement that he was unemployed, when in fact he was working for $18 a week.

Neale claims that for a long time before his death Dr. Matthews required opiates in the treatment of his illness and Mrs. Matthews took advantage of his weakened mental condition to induce him to make her gifts.

Newspaper Story Saves Lawnmower

Miss Margaret Bliss of Midway City, whose lawnmower was "borrowed" last week by a strange young man, had it back because a Huntington Beach man reads the newspaper.

Miss Bliss told the sheriff's office the Huntington Beach man, his name not reported, had read about her loss just a short time after he bought a used mower from a stranger. He called the theft victim, who identified her property.

Violation School Code Is Charged

Charged with violation of the school code by failing to send his children to school, Maximo Torres, 37, laborer of Route 1, Anaheim, was booked in the county jail yesterday by sheriff's deputies. Torres was arrested on a warrant from Justice Charles Kuehl of Anaheim township, who set bail at $500.

38 MORE SLAIN BY NEW RIOTS IN HOLY LAND

JERUSALEM, (AP)—At least 38 persons were killed today in new outbreaks of violence in the Holy Land, bringing to 106 the number of deaths since Saturday.

Six persons were killed when a house in Jaffa was blown up by a bomb early this morning.

Twenty Jews, including 11 children and three women, were slain and three were wounded when an armed band, described by officials as Arab rebels, raided a suburb of Tiberias on the Sea of Galilee.

The band entered numerous houses, firing indiscriminately at the sleeping occupants.

Other bands raided Tiberias itself, burning a Jewish synagogue, government offices, law courts and numerous other buildings before they were driven out by police and troops. Six of the raiders were killed.

Jewish constables on the Nazareth-Tiberias road a short time earlier killed six armed men in a skirmish.

Official figures placed at 67 the number of Arabs killed Saturday in two large scale engagements with British troops and police. A British inspector was killed.

BUFFALO BILL KIN TO MEET

HANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Descendants for the famous Cody frontiersmen will gather here Saturday and Sunday for a Buffalo Bill pageant and to revive the memories of their ancestors.

It will be the annual gathering of the famous Cody family, from all parts of the United States and Canada.

While Col. William F. Cody, last notable frontier scout in American history, perhaps is the best known in the family line, the Cody family traces its American lineage back to Beverly, Mass., in 1695. It is one of the first four hundred American families.

Perhaps the most adventurous was the third American generation, which started the westward trek with exploits in the farthest frontiers of Ontario, Ohio, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Oregon and California.

Harvey Purdy Cody, of Hanford, is president of the family. He expects between 75 and 100 to attend the reunion.

Secretary, Left $80,000, Sued by Administrator

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Defending herself against four suits, Mrs. Diane H. Matthews takes the position that since the late Dr. John M. Manury had a fortune she estimates at more than $1,000,000, gifts of some $80,000 to her as his secretary for 11 years were not unreasonable.

In one of the suits, which were called for trial in superior court today, Thomas W. Neale, administrator of the physician's estate, seeks recovery of $30,000 from Mrs. Matthews.

Neale claims that for a long time before his death Dr. Matthews required opiates in the treatment of his illness and Mrs. Matthews took advantage of his weakened mental condition to induce him to make her gifts.

Police News

Thefts from parked cars were reported to Santa Ana police by four motorists over the week-end. R. G. Kelley, 1720 North Broadway; A. T. Pryor, 719 Cypress street; J. E. Clerley, Buena Park; and Roy Fekner, Tustin, reported thefts including tools, gasoline, spare tire and wheel, leather coat and goggles.

Louis B. Chasten, of Ventura, was taken to the Orange county hospital by police for treatment of a serious throat ailment.

Louise Arnold, 1514 Durant, reported loss of a purse containing $19 in cash.

Group Health Insurance Plan For 9500 S. F. City Employees Is Put Into Effect Today

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—A group health insurance plan for 9500 city employees and 2500 of their dependents goes into effect today, while the medical profession throughout the country looks on with interest.

The plan recently withstood attacks upon its validity in the California supreme court, despite strict state laws against practice of medicine by anyone except the medical profession. The court dismissed a group health plan sponsored by a private corporation.

Medical and hospital care will be furnished the employees for monthly payments of $2.50, and $1 for children. About 1000 physicians and surgeons here are supporting the plan, and incidentally taking a chance on receiving full pay under a fee schedule fixed by themselves and an employees' board.

Dr. Walter B. Coffey is in charge of medical headquarters, while the system headquarters will be in the city hall, with Jesse B. Cameron as secretary. To avoid any rush of employees to get similar medical attention at once, at the beginning, consent of the medical director will be necessary before chronic ailments, such as defective tonsils, etc., are attended to.

WAYS SOUGHT TO BOOST USE OF COTTON

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Government farm experts are studying possible ways to increase domestic cotton consumption as a means of cutting down the nation's enormous surplus of the commodity.

It was reported authoritatively one of the proposals under consideration contemplates subsidies for textile manufacturers who agree to turn out cotton goods for sale at reduced prices to relief and low-income families.

President Roosevelt already has directed the agriculture department, officials said, to invite leaders of the producing, marketing and manufacturing sections of the cotton industry to consider a program based on the domestic subsidy proposal at a meeting here soon.

Meanwhile, with an estimated surplus of more than 13,000,000 bales in existence, Cotton Belt senators have been clamoring for the government to increase its present cotton loan rate of 8.3 cents a pound to 11.8 cents, the maximum allowed under the farm law.

Chairman Smith (D., S. C.) of the senate agriculture committee, leading the fight for bigger loans, contends the South will go bankrupt unless its cotton income is boosted. Production control programs, under which the federal government pays farmers for holding down their cotton acreages, have not prevented accumulation of the huge price-depressing surplus.

Free Circus, Pop And Peanuts for Chicago Children

CHICAGO, (AP)—Three thousand Chicago youngsters had a dream come true. They saw a circus free, and didn't have to sneak in to do it.

They were the guests of Louis L. Meitus, lumberman, who started out to buy two ponies for his youngsters from a disbanding circus, and came back with a whole menagerie.

To make the day complete, he fed the children 15,000 bottles of pop and 7000 free pounds of peanuts as they watched the show in his lumberyard.

Incorporation of New Citrus Unit Will Be Topic

Plans were advanced today toward the organization of a statewide fact-finding organization of citrus growers.

Articles of incorporation and by-laws will be prepared at a meeting of a special committee 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the offices of Colonel M. B. Wellington.

The articles of incorporation and by-laws will be submitted to a subsequent general meeting of growers.

Members of the committee include S. Blue, Anaheim; Richard Haster, Garden Grove; Guy Steele, La Habra; Clarence Brown, San Juan Capistrano; George Randall, Orange; Stanley Huntington, Villa Park; and Fred Gerdes, Orange.

The proposed new organization would be a fact-finding body to provide citrus growers with information on marketing problems, it was announced.

The movement was launched at a recent meeting in the Orange High school attended by 300 growers.

Leaders have announced that the purpose is not to break away from the California Fruit Growers' exchange, but to investigate certain marketing problems and to make recommendations when they are thought necessary.

A name of the new organization has not yet been announced, but it may be determined at the Wednesday night meeting of the special committee.

Meetings in citrus districts elsewhere in Southern California will probably be held soon after an organization has been set up.

GUILTY PLEAS MADE BY 10 IN CITY COURT

Seven traffic violators and three drunks pleaded guilty before Judge J. G. Mitchell in Saturday's session of Santa Ana city court.

Tom Ursua, 617 Central avenue, was sentenced to 150 days in the county jail on a common drunk charge, but 120 days of that term were suspended. Richard Dejonghe, San Diego, was given a 30-day suspended sentence on a drunk charge on condition he leave the city. Wesley F. Smith, 1502 West Fifth, paid a $15 fine for intoxication.

Speeders fined were Ernest E. Cason, 1139 West Chestnut, $10; Hugo W. Anderson, Anaheim, $6; and Jack Lubin, Los Angeles, $6. Guy L. Clinkenbeard, route 3, box 487, was fined $5 for failure to make a boulevard stop.

Overparking fines of $1 each were levied against Bill Fernandez, 407 East Harwood; Morris Stone, 1508 West Sixth street; and George Kurata, $1.

ANTI-NAZIS RIOT IN S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Be-dragged placards being picked up by street sweepers, three persons nursing injuries at their homes and 11 others facing charges of disturbing the peace and parading without a license were today's aftermath of an anti-Nazi demonstration.

More than 100 pickets attempted to march on California hall last night when Mayor Angelo Rossi and Baron Manfred Von Killinger, German consul general, addressed 1000 members of united German societies celebrating the 25th anniversary of the first landing of German settlers in America. Police forcibly broke up the parade and trampled underfoot placards declaring "Von Killinger is a German spy," "Hitler wants war," and "Austria yesterday, Czechoslovakia today; who's next?"

The injured persons claimed they were struck by police clubs. They were treated at an emergency hospital for cuts and bruises.

Do a Little Cracking-Down, Advises Heifetz, If You Want Your Children to Learn Music

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW
AP Feature Service Writer

NEW YORK.—There's nothing progressive about Jascha Heifetz's theories on teaching music. He goes right back to the old system which runs like this: "No music, no play; no practice, no candy."

Disciples of modern education may frown on this reward-and-punishment method, but the famed violinist goes cheerily on thrusting music down the throats of daughter Josepha, 8, and son Robert, 6.

Heifetz bases his method on the contention that all children dislike practicing.

"When I was the age of my order child I regarded practice as an unmitigated bore," he says. "And I don't think children have changed any through the years."

Says the violinist, "Children who do not relish the idea of practicing will surely practice if they know that refusing to do so means, in turn, parental refusal to allow them to do something they really like doing."

"Even if it requires coercion, my own children practice. They know by now that there are certain hours each day that they must devote to music. They practice twice a day—in the morning and in the afternoon."

Mr. Heifetz sees no sense in playing a game over his piano practice. "A piano is a piano," he says, "and it doesn't make it any more or less so to convert the piano into a rabbit and the keyboard into a menagerie. A piano should jolly well remain a piano."

Heifetz has the same scorn for Jascha Heifetz sees to it that daughter Josepha, 8, and son Robert, 6, put in their twice-daily sessions of practicing.

the progressive attitude toward recreation. "When children play, their play should be just as abandoned and devoted to play as their practice hours are confined to concentrated practice. In the course of their play periods there are opportunities to inject information about other things—geographical or mathematical games, for instance—but I believe this should be subordinated. The games children like to play should be first consideration."

"The children are going to blame us for something anyway when they grow up," observed the musician, philosophically. "With my children it will not be because I deprived them of a musical education. Throughout the country there are many who have reached maturity accusing their parents of having denied them the wonders and beauties of good music. Mine will probably blame me for other things, but at least music will be something for which they will be really grateful in later years."

ETERI CLUB OF GIRLS ELECTS, PLANS SUPPER

The Eteri club, young women's organization, will have a permanent meeting place in the Y. W. C. A. rooms at 105 East Bush street, it was announced today.

The club is an interdenominational organization of a limited number of prospects in the $100 and up classification.

While these two groups are handling a limited number of prospects, they must nevertheless produce a large portion of the $33,830 goal, according to Orlyn N. Robertson, general chairman.

First reports of progress in these two departments will be made when they attend the opening dinner of the campaign along with the workers in other departments Wednesday evening, October 5, at the central headquarters, 215 East Fourth street.

Members of the Central Division are: Ray Adkinson, Philip M. Brown, Leroy Burns, Dr. Perry Davis, Ellis Diehl, A. G. Green, A. Hasenjaeger, A. O. Hatfield, Sam Hurwitz, T. Gray Johnston, Ira Kroese, Dr. Emmett G. Raitt, Jack Rime, C. A. Warren, John Lutz, Jr., Don Jerome, E. F. Elstrom, W. K. Hillyard, W. B. Moore, Jr., M. B. Youel, Roy George, William J. Tway, E. M. Sundquist, A. W. Robinson.

The Advance Gifts committee is composed of: O. B. Barr, William F. Croddy, Bob Fernandez, Harvey Gardner, A. I. Mellenthin, Miss Lula Minter, R. B. Newcom, George Perkins, C. L. Pritchard, Herbert Rankin, W. D. Ranney, George S. Smith, W. H. Spurgeon, J. E. Tucker, W. B. Williams, Theodore Winbiger, John Scripps.

High school and college groups will meet tomorrow at 5 p. m. for a potluck supper, and the Business Girls will hold their dinner at 6:30 p. m. in the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

Orangoutangs to Fight for Chinese, Japanese Reports

SHANGHAI. (AP)—An old Chinese and Japanese legend about orangoutangs was applied to the Oriental war today.

A Japanese correspondent reported he had it from a reliable Japanese source that the Chinese had 6000 orangoutangs trained to throw hand grenades.

Furthermore, the correspondent wrote, he was told the Chinese had been capturing and training the animals in southwestern provinces for the past 10 years.

There frequently have been legendary stories in the Orient of trained orangoutangs.

Sheppard Pledges WPA Job Probe

A full investigation of grievances by six WPA workers reduced in class by Engineer Herman Reinhardt had been promised today by Congressman Harry Sheppard.

Sheppard met with the men Saturday afternoon here and heard their charges that they had been reduced from skilled to unskilled labor classifications to make room for Los Angeles county men. All are employed on the outfall sewer reconstruction project near Talbert. Fourteen men were similarly reduced in class, the men alleged, although they were competent to do the skilled work, according to their story.

Girl Sees Father Kill Her Mother

BLYTHE, Calif. (AP)—An enraged negro shot his wife to death before the horrified gaze of their daughter in a Blythe cafe, Under-sheriff Steve Lynch reported today.

The slain woman was Claudis Wynn, 32. Her husband, Robert, also 32, was removed to Riverside. Lynch said the couple had quarreled and Mrs. Wynn fled with her daughter, Margaret, 12, seeking refuge in a cafe. Cornering his wife, Wynn fired several shots into her body.

Elmer Guy's Campaign Proves That Old-Fashioned Ideas Still Are Sound in Politics

By FRANK ORR

Elmer Guy, pushed off the ticket in the district attorney's race by less than 800 votes in the primary election, was argued over probably more than any other candidate before the election.

Some said Guy's door-to-door campaigning, which the big fellow went at vigorously from January on, was a waste of time. The wise guys claimed housewives get mad at people who ring their doorbells and that husbands make up the family mind on political issues anyhow.

They were emphatic in saying that Guy, who braved encounters with goats and dogs to do his doorbell-ringing, might just as well carry a case of Fuller brushes and get some real benefit out of the trip.

But he fooled 'em. After his trips he would prepare a list of residents with whom he talked. Just before the election he sent out personal letters to those people—and he polled 8070 votes in third place behind Bill Menton and George Holden and ahead of the three other candidates, Joel Ogle, Maxwell Burke and Alex Nelson. More than that—Guy knows it was the house-to-house business that did the trick. He kept track of places where he'd been; and precincts he personally covered showed substantial blocks of votes for him.

Politics have changed considerably since Jim Sleeper started out with a pocketful of cigars a quarter-century ago, but not completely.

County campaigning is going to be a lot simpler for the bewildered voter this time. The primaries cleaned out party central committeemen and most county and township offices so there won't be too much on the ballot besides the welter of 25 propositions and state candidates.

In the county at large, only four offices remain to be filled—sheriff, district attorney and two judgeships. With Willard Smith re-elected in the primaries, only two supervisors' posts remain in question—those of N. E. West and John Mitchell.

DIVORCE LAW HIT BY WOMEN

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A committee of the Women Lawyers' club today prepared to draft legislation to abolish interlocutory divorces in California.

Mrs. Rena Brewster, president, said club members believe that the interlocutory period of one year prior to the granting of a final decree "works an injustice and hardship on many women entitled to an absolute decree."

"It is because of this unfair and unnecessary interlocutory provision that misunderstanding of the law is common, and women often discover that second marriages are void and their children without birthright," she asserted.

Taxpayers' Ass'n Lists Measures

"How to vote" recommendations on eight propositions on the Nov. 8 ballot were announced today by the California Taxpayers' association.

"Yes" votes were recommended on No. 7, administration of unemployment relief; No. 14, removal of judicial officers; No. 17, qualification of initiatives.

"No" votes were urged against No. 8, gifts to municipal corporations; No. 13, Garrison revenue bond act; No. 19, Veterans' Welfare board; No. 20, "single tax"; and No. 25, Retirement life payments.

Orders Oysters, Gets 18 Pearls

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Mrs. Theo Summerill ordered oysters on the half shell. She got the oysters—and 18 pearls.

Two of the pearls were of pea size, the remainder considerably smaller.

Mrs. Summerill said she would have them polished and strung as a necklace.

CLUB TO HEAR FERRIS EDGAR

Newell Vandermaast, program chairman of the local 20-30 club, today announced that Ferris Edgar will be the guest speaker at the organization's regular meeting tomorrow night in Daniger's cafe.

Edgar is a Santa Ana youth who has spent several years teaching on an island in the Mediterranean sea.

It was also announced that plans for the national civilian finger printing campaign will be formulated. Barney McKenna, committee member, will give a report on the local project. Work is expected to get under way in the near future, he said.

Army Men Unhurt As Planes Collide

MANILA, P. I. (AP)—Two army fliers escaped unscathed today when two pursuit planes collided in midair.

One of the planes, piloted by Second Lieutenant John M. Bartella, of Michigan, crashed, but the pilot parachuted to safety. Second Lieutenant Conrad F. Neeraon of New York flew the second ship back to the field despite its damaged condition.

$250, 36-Foot Chinese Junk, Crosses Pacific

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—By wind, and wind alone, a rickety Chinese junk today sailed almost within sight of San Pedro, last port of call of a daring conquest of the Pacific.

Lifting a slatterly spread of canvas to catch the breeze, the $250 craft poked out of Shanghai on July 11—83 days ago.

The skipper, rated by old salts as a landlubber, was Dr. E. Allen Petersen, 37, osteopathic physician of Los Angeles.

With him were his young Japanese bride, Tane, and two Russian seamen whom he hired to solve the problem of navigation with the aid of the stars and a compass.

No radio or other modern gadgets relieved the primitive simplicity of the voyage. But through furious storms and tiresome doldrums the junk kept on its course nearly a quarter way around the world.

Last week, the 10-ton, 36-foot Oriental craft was sighted off the California coast and coast guardsmen estimated it might reach port tonight or tomorrow.

Dr. Petersen, once attached to the Volunteer Chinese medical corps, was married in Tijuana, Mexico, and left on a honeymoon with his bride aboard a freighter last year. He bought the junk in the Orient for the return trip home.

LABOR BACKS REP. SHEPPARD

Endorsements from a number of labor organizations, including central labor councils of Orange, San Bernardino and Riverside counties, were announced today by Congressman Harry Sheppard.

Sheppard headquarters said he had been endorsed by:

State legislative committee, Order of Railway Conductors; Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees; Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, California Legislative body; Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, State Legislative board; Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees; International Brotherhood of Boiler Makers, Iron Ship Builders and Helpers of America; Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America.

EXCHANGE SEAT CHEAPER

NEW YORK. (AP)—Arrangements were made today for sale of a New York stock exchange membership at $68,000, or $12,000 lower than the last previous sale on Aug. 16.

Report of the association's nominating committee will be followed by nominations from the floor and election of officers for the next year. J. Arthur Anderson, deputy county assessor, has been president for the past year, first in the organization's history. Committee heads will report on auditing and finance, membership and public relations, social and resolutions, parking lot and credit union and insurance. Recommendations affecting the constitution and by-laws will be presented by the legislative committee and a special insurance committee will report on a plan of group life insurance.

GOV. EARLE FACES PROBE

PITTSBURGH. (AP)—The Pennsylvania supreme court today authorized a grand jury investigation of campaign charges against Governor George H. Earle and 13 Democratic associates, but declined to interfere with a similar legislative inquiry already under way.

The court declared unconstitutional two laws giving the legislature precedence over a Dauphin county grand jury in the inquiry and upheld a lower court order disqualifying the attorney general to conduct the grand jury investigation.

The legislative inquiry was started with the high court's permission. In today's order the court said it desired to prevent any "unseemly contest" that might arise between the judicial and legislative bodies.

$5 Peace Bonus Paid to Employees

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—A "peace bonus" of $5 each rested in the pockets of a hillbilly company's employees today.

Paul Hessler, company president, said the bonus was given after settlement of the European crisis, so employees would remember that peace and not war was declared.

EAST MET WEST ON THE PACIFIC COAST when three of the navy's seaplanes dipped before the U.S.S. Pennsylvania, named for an eastern state, during a display of naval and air strength. Ominous war threats abroad have directed greater attention toward the neutrality law and U. S. key defense units.

FASHION'S CLOCK turned back to restore the old-fashioned ostrich boa to current favor, along with other modish whims from Victorian era. This 12-foot boa is copied from one Paquin designed for the Duchess of Portland.

THE FOOTSTEPS OF THEIR FATHERS point the way for these German boys, who marched along to the barracks during the last world war. This picture made 20 years ago in Berlin may be prophetic; the little boys are grown soldiers now.

EVEN A QUEEN becomes a "subject", where the annual Red Cross rally is concerned. Wearing the regal robes in which she appeared as queen of the 1938 president's cup regatta, Miss Elizabeth Reed is enrolled as first Red Cross member in the District of Columbia roll call rally. Chairman Norman Davis is pinning on the Red Cross membership button.

WILLING follower of Konrad Henlein, the Sudeten Germans' leader, is smiling Willy Brandner (above), called leader of the first of Henlein's Free Corps units.

TO A FULL HOUSE "played" Sally Clark, singing sister-in-law of President Roosevelt's son John, who made her debut at Plaza hotel, New York. Society turned out to hear her sing and Bandman Eddie Duchin (above) play.

TWENTIETH CENTURY 'CAVEMAN,' these two British "Tommies" are searching for Arab marauders, who reportedly conceal themselves in caves on the outskirts of Jerusalem, and carry on guerrilla tactics from these underground hiding places. With the grave war crisis in Europe, the Holy Land dispute has become of somewhat less significance.

MARS SET THE DATE for wedding of Edith Groome and Lieut. Albert Collin, an officer in the French naval aviation reserve, who married in Philadelphia and sailed for a Paris honeymoon. The lieutenant was called in mobilization.

WHATEVER THE CRISIS or the threat of war that could involve the British empire, the parol is ever-present among England's statesmen, and War Minister Leslie Hore-Belisha is no exception. Pleasant-faced despite the great emergency arising from the Czech-German question, the minister arrives at 10 Downing St. for a cabinet meeting.

ALL MATERIALS they need, except manpower, would be made available to England and France if U. S. adopts policy advocated by Sen. M. M. Logan (above), Kentucky Democrat.

NEGOTIATIONS between Polish President Ignace Moscicki (above) and Czech President Eduard Benes over the Czech-Poland boundary dispute have been resumed.

THE CHEF'S MASTERPIECE turns out to be an elaborate Swiss chalet instead of something edible. When Oscar of the Waldorf at New York was pondering on his entry in the third annual arts and crafts exhibit for Waldorf employees he turned to wood-carving, his boyish hobby. He carved this two-foot-high chalet out of cigar box wood, spent 150 hours on task.

'KEEP CALM AND DIG' one newspaper told worried Britons when war threats brought again the danger of air raids that could devastate London and its historic spots indicated above. And so men have been digging incessantly in private gardens and in these public parks, to build bomb-proof shelters. Anti-aircraft guns were mounted near Parliament. A number of subway stations, including Charing Cross and Trafalgar Square which are near the government offices, were closed so as to permit the reinforcements needed to make them possible bomb-proof shelters.

PAUL PAVELKA... Paul Pavelka went to France from his home in Connecticut in October, 1914, and immediately joined the French Foreign Legion. He served with his regiment of infantry in an attack on the Germans north of Arras and on June 16, 1915, Pavelka received a bayonet wound in the leg during the bitter hand-to-hand fighting near Givenchy. In December, 1915, Pavelka transferred to the French aviation service. In August, 1916, he enlisted with the Escadrille Lafayette. While the Escadrille was at Verdun, Pavelka's plane was fired over the German lines, but he managed to bring the blazing ship down safely in a swamp. At his own request, Pavelka was transferred to the Salonica front in the following December. There, after three years of fighting as an infantryman and an aviator, he was killed when a horse he was riding fell on him.
